Incorporation Petitions Are Filed

THIS MOBIL service station attendant, Chuck Badiou (right) is getting in on the ground floor during the current gas war by standing over the shoulders of his competition, Terry Albers, an Associated station attendant, as Albers makes a quick change in the fluctuating price of the automobile fuel. From Badiou's stance, it is obvious that he intends to race back to his own station immediately to get the price changed so that he won't lose any of the business.

Foreign Language A Must For Orinda 8th Graders

By LARRY GLAZIER

Eighth grade students in the Orinda Union High School district will be required to take nine weeks of study in a foreign language during this school year, according to Glenn McNicholas, assistant superintendent for instruction.

The students will be taught some foreign language, probably Spanish, for one period a day during the nine weeks, he said.

ORINDA'S NEW program of requiring all eighth graders to study a foreign language is the outgrowth of the district's four-year test program, during which seventh and eighth graders could study Spanish, French, German or Latin as elective subjects.

When the local district started the test program, McNicholas said, it was rather unique, but now many elementary districts have started similar projects.

He said the Orinda district hopes to go into the lower grades with the foreign language program next year.

"THIS IS A planning year for the eventual integration of foreign language into the lower grades. We are going to ask for a Title III apportionment under the National Defense Education Act for it, similar to the one we received last year for an accelerated program in science and mathematics."

The district's summer school program, in which French and Spanish have been offered to students in the first through eighth grades for the last five years, still is unique, according to McNicholas, and it will continue along the same lines.

Summer school foreign language instruction in Orinda schools received nationwide publicity and is the subject of a University of California docorate, excerpts of which will appear in a state education journal, the assistant superintendent said.

McNICHOLAS REPORTED that the elementary students are taught the conversational approach to foreign languages, rather than the formal grammatical portions of the languages.

He explained the Orinda schools have started the approach because "During the early years, children are uninhibited when it comes to saying foreign words.

"By teaching the languages to younger students, we can overcome the block against foreign conversation that usually exists in older students."

IN KEEPING with the stress placed on the new program in the elementary schools, Mrs. Esther Johnson, a seventh grade teacher at the Pine Grove School, next year will assume the new post of full time foreign language consultant for the district, he continued.

McNicholas said the district will not be offering Latin or German this year because of the problem involved in making the transition from single-core to dual-core instruction.

He explained that for the first time this year the Orinda elementary plants will be working on a basis where half of the school program — science, mathematics and health — will be taught by one teacher, and the other half—language, arts and social sciences—by a second teacher.

THROUGH THIS new method, McNicholas continued, it is felt the students can more easily make the transition to high school departmentalization.

The eventual aim of the new required language program is to select one language which a student can study all the way through elementary school, so that when the student is in high school he can study more advanced parts of the language, he stated. McNicholas reported that before selecting the single language to be taught to all eighth graders, the district had to determine what its goal is.

HE STATED the district is concerned with finding a language which will teach the general aspect of familiarity with all foreign languages, and that Spanish appears to be one of the better ones because it is easier to master for most people and there is more instructional material available.

Because foreign language during the last four years was an elective, McNicholas explained, conclusions from students who took the courses and then went on to high school were not formalized.

After this year, however, the district will try to determine if the elementary study helps students in high school.

Informal studies made in recent years disclose that most students feel more at ease with any foreign language in high school after they have had some introduction in the elementary grades, he concluded.

Cooper Plea Held Over Again by Superior Court

Charles F. Cooper, indicted union official, will plea in Contra Contra Superior Court next Friday, according to District Attorney John A. Nejedly.

Cooper's plea was held over yesterday on the motion of his attorney, Robert Condon, in Judge Wakefield Taylor's court.

THIS IS THE second time in two weeks that Condon has been able to postpone Cooper's plea on a charge of allegedly attempting to bribe Nejedly.

Cooper, organizer for Bartenders' and Culinary Workers' Local 595, Richmond, was indicted by the Contra Costa County Grand ury recently and is presently out on $20,000 bail.

Condon is attempting to have the entire transcript of the grand jury proceedings made public. Condon said that even in the small portion of transcript, which was made public concerning his actual indictment of Cooper, "important details are missing."

CONDON SAID he would make a motion to have the entire proceedings made public next Friday.

Meanwhile, Raymond Van Tassell, Sheriff Walter F. Young's campaign manager, is scheduled to appear in the San Francisco office of the State Attorney General Tuesday.

Charles O'Brien, in charge of the attorney general's investigation into vice and gambling in the county issued a "no comment" statement when asked what the nature of the interrogation would be.

YOUNG ALSO issued a "no comment reply to the fact the attorney general had subpoened Van Tassell along with the books of the County Improvement League, a non-profit organization formed to pay off Young's campaign debts.

Sleepy Hollow Residents Ask For Early Election

Petitions asking for an election on the incorporation issue in the Sleepy Hollow area probably will be presented to the board of supervisors September 22, according to Jerry Tara, deputy county assessor.

The petitions were filed in Tara's office late last Friday by Fred Rust and Don A. Anderson, two of the members of the incorporation committee.

TARA SAID that because of the two holidays this week, he has been unable to check all of the names on the petitions for validity, but he will have them ready for the supervisors a week from Tuesday.

He added, "I am sure they have enough valid signatures on the papers. They have about 60 per cent of the Sleepy Hollow residents on the petitions, and I'm certain the valid signatures will total at least the necessary 25 per cent."

The city of Sleepy Hollow could become Contra Costa County's 13th incorporated community if it, and the Lafayette incorporation issue October 27, both are approved.

PROPONENTS OF the Sleepy Hollow move sought incorporation as the only means of effectively blocking a county proposal to extend Lombardy and Washington lanes to through traffic.

The incorporation committee felt the county proposal, if carried out, would destroy the tranquility of the area and would eliminate the picturesque Lombardy poplars, which line the only access road to the area.

Boundaries of Sleepy Hollow encompass about 500 acres, inhabited by 350 families and about 1,300 persons.

THE CITY, if incorporated, would be pledged to minimum services, similar to the city of Monte Sereno in Santa Clara County, according to Rust.

Tara reported that the board of supervisors, after accepting the petitions, will set a public hearing, probably for October 6, at which protests will be heard.

Following the public hearings, he added, the board can set an election date.

COUNTY OFFICIALS said 75 days between the date the election is set and the date of balloting have to be allowed for the required filing of council candidates, meaning that the earliest date for a Sleepy Hollow election probably will be late in December.

Rust said the proponents of incorporation filed last week in order to "have the incorporation issue resolved by January 1, and to take advantage of the state subventions for this year."

In order to receive the state subventions for 1959-60, the successful incorporation election would have to be certified by the secretary of state prior to the first Monday in February, according to James Olsson, head of the elections department of the county clerk's office.

Fire District's Equipment Moved From Gill Land

Commissioners of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District learned at their meeting Tuesday night that all of the district's equipment has been moved from the Marsh Creek Lodge site to the county prison farm on Marsh Creek Road.

Fire Chief Al Baitx reported that the orders of the commissioners to make the location transfer has been accomplished.

W. G. BUD BUCHANAN, chairman of the board of supervisors, and Sheriff Walter Young were on hand at the meeting to hear the reading of Baitx' report.

For the time being, the district board said, the district's emergency telephone number will be the same as the prison farm, MUlberry 5-8855. The listing of a separate number for the fire district is in the process, the commissioners reported.

Steps were taken by the commissioners last month to relocate the fire equipment because of the controversy over the handling of the department by the former chief, Geroud L. Gill, who also served as a commissioner.

After The Sun revealed that Gill's telephone number for the Marsh Creek Lodge resort was the same as that of the fire district, at taxpayers' expense, the board of supervisors, about two months ago, summarily removed him from his post as commissioner.

A SHORT TIME later, Gill resigned as fire chief.

Cancer Drive's $125,000 Up from 1956's $33,593

An annual report to directors and to American Cancer Society leaders from Contra Costa County will be made Wednesday at Villa San Ramon.

The society's books closed August 31 for the fiscal year with a total of $125,000 available through the 1959 Cancer Crusade and memorial gifts, to support next year's program of research, public education and day-to-day service to patients.

This week's report indicated the society has accomplished a considerable reduction in the cost of fund-raising while at the same time upping income received.

For example, in this just-concluded fiscal year, with a total income of $125,000, fund-raising costs dropped to 3.1 per cent, leaving more funds actually available to vital programs, the report said.

This compares favorably to 1956, when the local society's total income was $33,593 collected at a cost of nine per cent.

Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, county president, said today this was accomplished through increased economy of operation, experience, and "the incalculable value of our many volunteers throughout the county."

Dr. Pellegrin will report in detail on needs to be filled during the coming year as well as on this year's mission at the annual dinner, Wednesday.

The meeting will be open to the public but reservations must be made in advance through the society's headquarters at 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

Gas Warfare Armistice Not Expected Soon

Gas warfare, a bugaboo during World War II, is a happy event for Contra Costa drivers, and it looks like no armistice is in sight.

Cars are stacking up in stations in Lafayette and Pleasant Hill, sporting "25.9" on signs in front, and Walnut Creek and Orinda stations are generally at 27.9 for rgular and 30.9 for ethyl.

No meetings have been scheduled between competing companies, it was reported.

Prices may drop even further this week or in the near future, operators say.

Meanwhile, the cost of transportation, especially over Labor Day and Admission Day was well suited to even the modest pocketbook.

Right of Vehicle Department to Pull Drunk Driver's Licenses Faces Test

The Department of Motor Vehicles and a Diablo resident will clash head on in court September 21 over the department's recently instituted policy of pulling drivers' licenses for six months on convictions for drunk driving.

Harold Turner of the Walnut Creek law firm of Ring, Turner and Ring will represent George H. Sauer, a contractor, before Judge Homer Patterson in Contra Costa Superior Court.

Named as defendant in the case is Robert McCarthy, director of the DMV and the man who put the new policy into practice over the Fourth of July holidays.

In effect, Turner and Sauer will be speaking for thousands of motorists throughout the state who have had their driving rights taken away by the state.

Turner said he is not fighting the department of motor vehicles on the constitutionality of whether they may take drivers licenses, but rather their right to do so under present statutes.

In a crackdown begun July 1, the Department of Motor Vehicles has automatically taken up the license of a drunk driver for at least six months, even on the first conviction as in Sauer's case.

Superior Judge Norman A. Gregg ordered DMV Director McCarthy to show cause why Sauer's license should not be reinstated.

Sauer also sued McCarthy and the department for $16 a day for employment of a chauffeur since the state's suspension went into effect August 14.

In Sacramento, Tom M. Bright, deputy director of the DMV, said he has extensive legal opinions upholding the department's right to take action under a 1935 section of the Vehicle Code.

Turner contends the section does not apply after the courts have taken action under either of two other sections of the code.

Governor Edmund G. Brown said he plans to continue the crackdown policy until stopped by the courts.

Sponsors Needed For Art Pageant

Immediately following the close of the fifth annual Diablo Pageant of Arts held in Walnut Creek May 28 through 31, 1959, an evaluation meeting was held to discuss past endeavors and analyze suggestions for the future.

The consensus was that the pageant is fulfilling a definite need in the community by placing emphasis on cultural and creative occupations, but if it is to continue improving and expanding, more volunteers, sponsors and additional facilities are required.

L. A. KIMBALL, city manager of Walnut Creek, assured the committee that the 1960 Pageant of Arts will not be hampered by lack of space as the armory building will be added to the recreation center and city park facilities, which will make next year's show one of the largest of its kind produced by a volunteer group.

President Forrest Engelhardt stated that the establishment of a permanent executive committee will be one of the first steps after the by-laws committee present their findings.

Chairman of the by-laws committee is Mrs. Ruth Wallis, with Evadne Wenker, William J. Marshall and Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn, who are to make their report at the next regular meeting of the association, October 5, in the council chamber of the Walnut Creek city hall, 1445 Civic Drive, at 8 p.m.

THE PAGEANT sponsored by the Walnut Creek area Chamber of Commerce and the city of Walnut Creek, is now seeking additional sponsors of clubs, groups or organizations, who can assist financially or with active participation.

Prospective sponsors are urged to send a representative to the October 5 meeting, and individuals interested in volunteering their time and talents are to call Evadne Wenker, executive secretary, at VErnon 7-2997, or attend the October 5 meeting.

An immediate need is for a business manager to head the ways and means committee; various chairmen are also needed including membership and box office.

CHAIRMEN OF present committees would also welcome additional workers and your special interest may be in one of the following groups: Richard Lotter, music chairman; Connie Sterne, production chairman; Nikki Cooper, dance chairman; Mildred Carlock, literature; Adoree Gantz, junior art; Geri Yuen, fine arts exhibition chairman, Tre Ford, outdoor art chairman, and William J. Marshall as coordinator.

Danny Isola Is Recovering From Heart Surgery

Reports from Chicago indicate that seven-year-old Danny Isola is recovering "just wonderfully" after delicate heart surgery a week ago, according to Mrs. Harold Engman of Orinda.

Mrs. Engman, chairman of the "Dollars for Danny" fund drive which raised nearly $10,000 earlier this year, said the youngster left his oxygen tent for the first time Wednesday and was able to eat solid food for the first time the same day.

DANNY, A "BLUE baby" since birth, was operated on at Children's Memorial Hospital in the Windy City for transposed blood vessels leading to and from his heart.

Local doctors diagnosed his condition, and reported that the delicate operation was the only way to keep Danny alive for even one more year.

Doctors in Chicago said Wednesday, the fifth day after the four and one-half hour operation, that Danny will not be able to participate in active sports, but will be able to go to high altitudes and will be able to swim.

THE PHYSICIANS also said Danny will get natural color all over his body. The color has already come to his face, according to Mrs. Engman, who spoke with Danny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Isola.

Isola is a mail carrier, and residents along his route in Orinda began the "Dollars for Danny" drive, which resulted in the Chicago trip last week.

Danny tentatively will be discharged from the hospital Sunday, September 20, and will return home that day for further care by Bay Area doctors, Mrs. Engman said.

HE WILL NOT be walking prior to the time he returns home, she added.

Meanwhile, Danny's only concern is the lack of cards which have arrived at his bedside. Although he received four Wednesday, he would love some. Mrs. Engman reported, and she urged persons to write to him care of Children's Memorial Hospital, 707 W. Fullerton, Chicago, 14, Illinois.

Orindans File $10 Million Fraud Action

Victor Rigolfi of 7 Southwood Drive, Orinda, and an East Bay nursery partner are sueing three other partners and a shipping firm for $10 million, alleging fraud.

The charge includes allegations that Bionigi Brunetti, one of the three, established a nursery in San Francisco to compete with the partner's firm, Twin Nurseries, 14958 Washington Avenue, San Leandro.

Complaining with Rigolfi is Caesar Rosi of Oakland. The other two defendants are Silvio Domilla and Ida May Evans, and the accused shipping firm, Consolidated Growers and Shippers, Inc.

Cast Highlights Don's Back to School Outfit

Eight year-old Don Dildine's back-to-school outfit will be built around a full leg cast, the result of his collision with a car, Sunday afternoon.

He will also sport two up-to-date crutches for about two weeks.

Don, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dildine, 57 Charles Hill Road, Orinda, rode his bike out of a blind driveway and collided with a car.

He was thrown up over the hood, and glass from the broken headlight cut his knee. No citations were issued.

Mowrey Will Teach Class

Loren G. Mowrey, 12 Esta Bueno, executive vice president of the Oakland Real Estate Board, will conduct the University of California's extension class in "Trends and Factors Influencing Real Estate," beginning September 22.

According to Duncan B. Campbell, head of the real estate extension service, the class will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Room 108, Woods Hall in San Francisco.

A native of Modesto, Mowrey was graduated with honors from the University of California with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He has been a member of the faculty during the last two years.

Orinda Church Hoedown Set

The first fall event of the Orinda Community Church Guild will be a "Harvest Hoe-Down" in the church patio tomorrow at 7 p.m.

A steak barbecue dinner will be served "chuck-wagon" style amid western atmosphere and entertainment of square dance exhibits, skits, music and comedy. Door prizes and surprises will add to the good old-fashioned fun.

Tickets may be obtained at $2.50 from Jacki Raaka at CL 4-3571, from Lu Branch at the church office or from Ogden's Shops in Orinda Village.

School Site Survey $500 Is a 'Foot in the Door'

"We've got our foot in the door," Harry Morrison, executive director of the County Taxpayers Association said, commenting on the supervisors' budget allocation of $500 for a county-wide school site survey.

The survey, which may cost only about $15,000, will avoid the "coordination by rumor" system by which school districts learn where their neighbors will place schools at the boundaries, he said.

The $500 appropriation paves the way for a later transfer of funds to the survey from the unappropriated reserve, which grows larger as the fiscal years pass due to projects which don't jell, transfer of salaried employees and other reasons.

"THE UNAPPROPRIATED reserve often gets up to $1 million during the fiscal year," Morrison observed.

He added, "The supervisors made no promises, but this is the furthest the Association has gotten since we began to campaign for this four years ago."

An example of "coordination by rumor" he said, was the case several years ago where Acalanes High School District and Mt. Diablo Unified District were going to build high schools within a mile of each other in the Oak Park Boulevard-Geary Road area.

"They got wind of it, and Las Lomas was built at its present location," Morrison said.

THE FACT that the local districts have planning consultants does not necessarily mean that the schools in each district will be carefully located in relation to the schools in the next district, and only a county wide survey can bring the decided-upon locations into the County Master Plan, Morrison said.

And the tendency for trustees of each district to ignore the Master Plan, once passed, may be stopped by recent interpretations which say the county school superintendent can veto the location of a school. That is, his approval is no longer just a formality, he continued.

A big step forward is that County Administrator J. P. O'Brien has looked with favor on the survey.

Original suggestions were to hire the services of the Stanford Research Institute, when the County Planning Department said it couldn't handle the job. Cost would be about $35,000.

BUT IF THE county merely hires a new planning department assistant, the cost will drop to about $15,000, Morrison said. Salary of the assistant would be about $7200 per year.

Another difficulty where small districts could not afford to buy school future sites even with a master plan is being tackled by those seeking state loans from the state revolving fund, with provision for re-payment.

Morrison admitted that there are some provisions for coordination in most of the local districts. But this does not answer the need for a county-wide survey, he said.

THE FACT that the local districts have planning consultants does not necessarily mean that the schools in each district will

Jaycees' 3rd Annual Swim Meet Set for Next Weekend

The third annual All-Orinda Community Swim Meet, sponsored by the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held Saturday, September 12, and Sunday, September 13, at the Sleepy Hollow Pool.

Events include free style, back stroke, breast stroke, free style relay and medley, in accordance with the AAU Junior Olympic rules.

THERE ARE SEVEN age divisions ranging from under six years old to high school seniors.

The presentation of awards will take place on Sunday.

Contestants are limited to residents of the Orinda area, and those who wish to compete are urged to sign up at their Orinda Area Pool or contact Robert E. Anderson, DR 6-5088.

ALTHOUGH contestants compete as individuals and not as members of teams, representatives of Stan Turner's 80-man undefeated Orinda Park Pool team are expected to enter in most events.

In the first year of Turner's reign as coach, the Orinda Parkers ran up their first unbeaten season in a number of seasons, winning impressive meets against seven other clubs, including two from Orinda.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Hail to Thee, Blithe Spirits!

NOW that School has started, let's turn over a New Leaf — or at least look on the other side of it.

HERE are a few suggestions to make Life a little different from the inevitable daily routine, the veritable Rat Race, that will engulf us all within a few more weeks.

Let us declare a Telephone Treaty & pledge & promise on a stack of phone bills & phonebooks to not make ONE single call for a week, emergencies excepted, of course!

LIKEWISE, let us rest from the bouts of Bridge, even you daily Die-Hards who are beyond any hopeful recovery. Let us be Sportive & try something else for a change — like biking or hiking or studying rocks or playing Badminton or writing recipes or clipping scrapbook stuff from that stack of magazines stashed in the garage.

TO OUR OWN Shelves, let us be true, Dear Hearts!

But Family out of the way First & no need to fly a flag or toot a trumpet. Just try not to grin like a Cheshire Cat as you wave them Goodbye from the stoop or the stop.

Arise, Languid Souls & promise to bounce out of bed & hit the hardwood before the rest of the family. Fetch the paper, feed the kittens, start the coffee & have plenty of time to spare.

LET us retrench from the mundane summer menu of Juice & Weerios.

Be it resolved, O Zestless Ones, to spurn the Sawdust Cereal Circuit & serve up instead a mushroom omlette or chicken livers or bowls of hot oatmeal. Be different & ladle up hot soup — something that gives Any Man, Woman or Child a good start.

Yes, kindred creative ones, let us do away for awhile w/any ideas of redecorating or making darling new curtains or searching the stores for new Fall Fashions. Let us instead devote 1 hr. daily for 1 wk., this blissful Stay-At-Home & Enjoy-It-Time before things reach their really gushy peak, of putting buttons BACK on Papa's shirts, of mending hose, of taking hems down or up, of restoring order to chaotic closets full of summer's moths & mementoes.

Time to take Fall Inventory . . .

HERE'S to Healthy Housewives who may, at least for a week, curtail the Kaffee Klatsches & shy away from the Sherry.

Let us drink milk — slim milk, skim milk, buttermilk, Goat milk, any milk & 8 glasses of water a day. DO let us dispense w/the TV snacks & the Late, Late Movie!

Let us breathe of the air & Hark to the Lark & in this Shining Hour neither need nor heed the telephone, the meetings, the gabfests, the greetings. We just VANT to be ALONE!

Let us take inventory of our Household Goods, our Worldly Goods, all the things that have been provided for us by the Man who brings home the Bacon. Then let us ENJOY them!

DOMESTIC too, let us bake cookies or bake bread, sit in the sun & peel potatos or pare the apples for a homemade pie. Let us start dinner EARLY in the day & give us the grace to get the groceries before 5 o'clock starts rolling around & the commuter traffic starts rolling in.

As we polish the silver, let us as well, polish the patina of our Soul-satisfying state of Solitude, however brief it may be —

Let us dust out the Cobwebs of our homes as well as those of our Matriarchal Minds!!

May we starch the dresses & crisp the shirts & if any problems are pressing, let us dismiss them as we catch up on the ironing & get to the Bottom of Things — in the clothes basket!

Let us Love Thy Neighbor & donate a few hrs. ONE day to sitting w/some Tired Young Mother's moppets so that at least, she too, can do the Dime Store in peace (& in one piece) without clutching, clinging, crying kiddies.

LIKE doing someone else's dishes, we won't mind as much & the Lilliputs will like it if we play the harmonica or teach them Jacks or whistle through our teeth or read Robert Louis Stevenson.

Before we are whisked up in the whirlpool of La Vie Suburbia, let us have this next week to rattle around by Our Lonesomes . . . to make rummage . . . to walk in the woods & collect dried weeds . . . to paste up those pix of the children we've been meaning to do for YEARS!

TO PAINT, perhaps a picture — or at least that commode we brought home so optimistically . . . to clean out our desk & pay up our bills, to plink on the uke or play those new Stereos.

LET the Clubs & The Community Affairs take a 7-day holiday so that we can pay homage to HOME, appreciate our Lot & what we've Got!

Together we stand, divided we fall . . . Is it all for one & One For All?

Or just Wishful Thinking?

This is a Big Wknd. for both the Orinda Community Church & the Santa Maria Catholic Church, the latter's Fiesta de Orinda to run both Sat. & Sun. from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. & the Community Church Guild's "Harvest Hoe Down" tomorrow night . . . Both places you'll find lots of activity, good fun & food for the whole family! There'll be Bar-B-Que steak dinners at both w/tkts. for the Hoe Down dinner available from Jackie Raaka, CL 4-3571, Mayten's members & guests are dusting off their jeans for their Bucolic Frolic tomorrow night at Laf. Vets Hall & you can have your Steak & eat it here, too!

Gen. Chrmn. for the Orinda Orioles Big Bridge Luncheon (Mt. Diablo Therapy Center) is Elna Kistler who is tying up door prize ribbons for the Sept. 23 affair. Working w/her, to name a few, are Liz Folliard, Vera Berry, Phyllis Stuart, Hilja Case . . . The Big Bridge will take place at 6 Orinda homes w/Mary Gray's house set aside for a fashion show (Margaret Joseph's & Ogden's) for the non-card players. Tkts. $2.50 & we have them, CL 4-5729. (Free plug — We also have 4 ADORABLE kittens, one fluffy black, one fluffy white, one w/a Van Dyke Goatee if you like a REAL Cat w/the Beatnik look!

ALREADY our calendar is cockeyed! Another look tells us that Orioles will hold their annual pvt. FUN party on Sept. 26 w/a Catered Affair at the Happy Valley home of the William Sergeants (Pat is pres.) who have moved from Bear Creek.

NEXT Sat., the 19th, the traditional LOMBARDY Steak-Barbecue at Orinda Country Club w/dancing under the stars in what promises to be a sumptuous setting — "An Arabian Night" as the theme & you can come as mysterious & ravishing as you like! Tonite — don't forget "The Winslow Boy" opening by Dramateurs at Laf. Town Hall.

ORINDA PHOTOG Don W. Jones has clicked AGAIN so soon w/the Sat. Eve Post. His 2-pg. spread of the Basque Mountaineers in the Sept. 12th issue! Which reminds us that Sat Eve Post author Prentiss Combs, his wife Lela & their children christened their new Camper's Bus this summer & cruised comfortably from coast-to-coast, a different route each way!

Penny & Mark Kermit motored to Canada but next time they'll try the boat or a plane or even the train for a Longer Stay!

The Gordon Daggetts (Charmian Cash) have moved back into Montclair!

THE BOBBIES, or Bobolinks, Jr. Unit of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, celebrated Summer's End w/a Paka LUAU at the Robert Bolman residence. With the 60 young guests at the Rick-sha catered party featuring Muumuus, sarongs & Everybody Barefooted, were 8 chaperones to whom hostess Edith Bolman slyly slipped forks in lieu of Chopsticks.

Multi-Coin Type Found Throughout Central Area

By BOB RAPIDA

Multiple pinball machines are the largest single source of illegal gambling revenue in Contra Costa County.

These machines, which may be found and played in most taverns and beer parlors in the county, are "rigged" against the player through "tilt" mechanisms; present an almost insurmountable police poblem and only 'the house" tends to profit from the playing of these pseudo-slot machines by "suckers."

There is one consolation for the habitue of the multi-colored, five ball electronic masterpiece, however, if he pumps in enough money, the pot, should he win, is certainly sweet.

HERE IS the way it works at Mitch's club, The Surf Room, The Knotty Pine, Alamo Gardens, Pacheco Inn, The Shillalah, The Silver Saddle and Four Corners Club:

You drop a dime into the coin slot (pin ball machines used to be a nickel, but everything has gone up), this gives you the right to shoot five balls around the board. The object of the game is to get three or more balls lined up in a row in any direction.

If you line up the balls you may win four free plays for lining up three balls, six for four and 12 for five balls lined up. On this basis the game is simple and relatively inexpensive.

BUT, THE MORE coins you drop into the machine before playing the five balls, the higher the odds go—or at least you hope the odds go higher. There is no set policy on the part of the machine giving you higher odds for each coin inserted.

For example, after inserting 30 cents in the machine your odds may be 16 free plays for three balls, 24 free plays for four balls and 48 plays for five balls in a row.

Now, if cash were substituted for free plays, payoffs, the odds usually go two to one, or on a 30 cent investment a player stands to win $9.60.

NOW, BACK TO the matter of a game of skill, a five-year-old can win just as easily on a multiple play pin ball machine as a "skilled" adult.

This test has been made by The Sun and the five-year-old won by shooting five balls blindly. The adult did not have this kind of luck, although he had had some experience in the play of the machine and "a fairly good eye."

Extra coins may be inserted in the machines, played at each of the establishments already mentioned, to "enhance" the players' chances of winning.

Again, for example, if you have three balls in a row and a space separating the fifth, you may deposit extra coins and try for an "extra ball."

You may win this ball after depositing one, three or ten coins. This is the "chance" that you take for trying to win the extra ball.

ONE BALL machines are illegal in this state, so many establishments have converted the old one ball machines to five ball machines, only they have raised the ante from five cents to 25 cents.

None of the machines seen in Contra Costa taverns, however, were of the 25 cent category.

The Shillilah and the Knotty Pine are not new to the operation of multiple play machines. At the Knotty Pine, the Contra Costa Sheriff's office confiscated a multiple play less than two years ago. The machine was destroyed.

At the Shillalah, several years ago, a machine was confiscated and a fine was paid by the owner. Just weeks ago, Sheriff's Inspector Norman Wilson warned the owner of the tavern to "watch out." Yet, the machines are still there and are "going strong."

PERHAPS THESE machines are just for the amusement of the player as a juke box, but in Johnny Banducci's Club there are at least seven such machines, all placed by Mel Bond, one time employee of "Big Bill" Pechart. (See Under the Sun, editorial page.)

Undoubtedly the patrons of the club enjoy spending hour after hour and dollar after dollar on the machines for the "fun of it."

The Sun has appeared before two grand juries and the State Crime Commission on the subject of pinball machines. The Sun has long pointed out the harm, both monetary and moral, which pinball machines bring to a community, but still the attorney general, sheriff and district attorney can not agree whether these machines should be outlawed.

THE SUN WAS given an opinion by the Attorney General pointing out the machines, multiple play, are illegal.

The sheriff was given the opinion by Tom Martin of the attorney general's office, that "this is a problem throughout the state and, at this time, we can't say one way or the other."

The district attorney holds that the legality of the machine depends on whether or not the game is a game of skill or a game of chance.

THE SHERIFF has been working on an anti-pinball ordinance, but has not requested assistance from the district attorney on the matter, according to District Attorney John Nejedly.

Pinball machines are big money in this county.

At one time, Harry A. Brown, former sheriff, had a list of pinball machine operators compiled. This list was turned over to one time sheriff's vice officer Lou Zeliff so that the machines could be checked out.

Zeliff made the pinch at the Knotty Pine.

F. W. Huchison of Vallejo was reported to be moving hundreds of machines into the county, according to Undersheriff Harry A. Ramsay, who at that time was an investigator in the district attorney's office.

PINBALL machines are expensive, about $250 on up, according to distributors. The revenue from one machine per day (16 hours of operation) is often over $200.

The distributor or serviceman will "fix" the machine to work any way you like—multiple play or legally.

Then there was a hassle just after Sheriff Walter F. Young went into office concerning pinball machines.

Reportedly, Raymond Van Tassell, the sheriff's campaign manager, went out to solict contributions from pin ball operators. Bond came to the sheriff's office after he had been approached and complained he was being "shaken down." This led to an argument between Van Tassell and Ramsey, the undersheriff claimed.

"AND AFTER we exchanged words, I threw Van Tassell out of the office," Ramsay commented.

The sheriff denies he told Van Tassell to solicit funds from pin ball operators, but said he knew Van Tassell had the pin ball operator list, Van Tassell denies that Ramsay ever threw him or that they ever had an argument.

Shortly after the argument allegedly took place, Van Tassell severed his business relationship with the sheriff, becaue the "sheriff had vetoed my plans," according to a letter written to Young by Van Tassell.

Van Tassell has been subpoened to appear in the San Francisco office of the attorney general questioning Tuesday.

Three community swimming pools were burglarized last weekend, and about $70 in cash and merchandise were taken.

Wire fences were cut and windows forced at Heather Pool, Valley Drive and Heather Lane, Moraga Valley Pool, Risa Court, and the Sleepy Hollow Pool, Sunny Lane.

Girls Get High Honor

Four Orinda girls received Curved Bars, the highest honors in Girl Scouting during a Court of Awards last Tuesday.

They are Wendy Maehler, Sandra Mittell, Bonnie Palmer and Gladys Smith.

THE YOUNG lasses wanted to spend their summer in community service and on the advice of the Scout leader, Mrs. Claude Maehler, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Smith, undertook the maintenance at the Margaret K. Anderson Nature Area at the Glorietta School.

Their work consisted of maintaining and improving the wildlife area, clearing trails, weeding and watering, replacing bird houses, carving and replacing redwood stakes and planting shrubs.

Parents of the girls attended the award ceremonies, which were significantly held in the Margaret K. Anderson Nature Area.

Altarinda Site Will Be Topic

A report on the possible location of a new school in the Altarinda area heads the list of agenda items for Monday night's meeting of the board of trustees of the Orinda Union School District.

The meeting was postponed from last Monday because of the Labor Day holiday.

AT THEIR AUGUST meeting, the trustees asked James Anderson of the Oakland architectural firm of Anderson, Simonds, Dusel and Campini to study the available Altarinda property and determine which area would serve best as a school site.

Owners of the property are developing it as a residential area, and have agreed that the school district can have first choice at purchasing enough land for a school location.

Trustees held a brief special meeting Tuesday night and approved furniture bids for the new Inland Valley School and formally accepted the completion of the Glorietta School additions.

OTHER AGENDA items for Monday night include:

1 — Establishment of school starting times.

2 — Approval of contracts for teachers.

3 — CONSIDERATION of deed for an easement on the Inland Valley School property.

Wanted! Leaders For Girls!

At least 50 leaders must be recruited for the existing 144 groups of girls from 7 through 18 years, according to Dick Rockwell, president of the Camp Fire Girls Council, a United Crusade Agency.

"We are using the slogan 'She Cares—Do You?' in conjunction with our Golden Jubilee in 1960," he said.

This slogan is certainly applicable to our appeal to the mothers and women in the community to fill the need among our growing girls.

"In addition to the existing groups, we are striving to raise this figure to 175 by the winter of 1960. This, however, depends entirely on the response of the mothers to our appeal."

HE SAID recruitment is hoped to be accomplished so that each school will have a group in all the areas served by the Crusade-supported Council. The areas include Diablo Valley, Pleasant Hill, Concord, Danville and Alamo.

A group organization committee under the chairmanship of Mesdames Milton Trevorrow of Concord, Ted Kammerer of Pleasant Hill and George Jensen of Lafayette is working with 30 volunteers to do the initial recruiting and contacting.

Training Committee Chairman Mrs. David Pye of Alamo is arranging training sessions which include cookouts, first aid, general programming, crafts, ceremonials and symbolisms.

LEADERS Association meetings are scheduled for the next few weeks and precedes the fall program, Rockwell pointed out.

The Camp Fire Girls program covers a variety of activities. Conservation covers planting of trees at new schools and recreation centers, weeding of church yards and civic spots to add to the community beautification and the planting of the Camp Fire headquarters.

They also hold miscellaneous fund raising projects to collect funds to buy penny pines to replant burned-out forests and hills.

87 Will Teach at Diablo Valley College This Fall

Diablo Valley College, now beginning the tenth fall semester, will have a certificated staff of 87 for the full time students' program offered during the day.

College Director Karl O. Drexel said this will include 11 new teachers and two from Contra Costa College, San Pablo, who transferred this fall.

There will be three new positions in the area of communication and English to be filled by Willis D. Middleton, William J. Sparke, and Harvey Berman.

MIDDLETON has been teaching at Bakersfield Junior College and is a graduate of University of Missouri with an M.A. degree earned at University of California.

Sparke earned the B.A. and M.A. degrees at San Francisco State College which he attended after eight years' experience as magazine editor, five of them on the New Liberty Magazine of Toronto, Canada.

Berman taught drama at Mt. Diablo High School for three years and will teach the college drama classes in addition to others in communication. He is a graduate of University of California at Los Angeles and holds an M.A. degree from San Francisco State College.

Two psychology-counseling instructors new to the staff will be William J. Walsh and Stanley N. Yale.

WALSH, who has been teaching in the San Leandro Unified School District, has a B.S. degree from Connecticut Teachers College and an M.A. degree from University of California.

He will replace Mrs. Helen Lindgren who is on sabbatical leave to take additional graduate work in counseling.

Yale, who has travelled and studied in western Europe, holds a social studies diploma from Athens College, Greece, the B.A. degree from Michigan State University, and the M.A. degree from University of California.

Robert H. Duke, Jr. of Danville, who for the last four years has been on the engineering staff of California Research Corporation, will teach physical science and mathematics.

A GRADUATE of University of California with the B.S. degree, he is the second alumnus of the Contra Costa Junior College District to return after earning higher academic degrees to take a full time teaching assignment. Last fall the research group for whom he worked released him for a few weeks to allow him to substitute at Contra Costa College for Stuart Inglis, a physical science instructor on leave to take an International Geophysical Year assignment.

Another new position in the physical science area will be filled by Paul E. Yeager, former Monrovia teacher who earned the B.A. and M.A. degrees at San Jose State College.

A new teaching position in the humanities will be filled by Robert G. Neustadt who has been attending University of California for advanced studies. He already has the B.A. degree and has attended U.C. School of Law.

KENNETH C. Skeen, a mathematics instructor at Contra Costa College for the last seven years will teach the same subject this fall at Diablo Valley College. A former vice principal of Taft Junior College, he holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from Kansas State College and has taken additional post-master's work.

He is an author of mathematics textbooks including a new one which will be published this year.

Another transfer from the sister college at San Pablo will be Arthur G. Mainini who will fill a new position as assistant dean of instruction in charge of trade and technical education.

A journeyman electrician, he had 12 years experience as construction, maintenance and marine electrician before becoming an instructor.

FRIEDRICH W. Herrman is a former U.S. Army Language School instructor at Monterey, who took undergraduate work at the Universities of Leipzig and Erlangen, Germany before graduating from the University of Iowa. He will teach foreign languages. He also earned the M.A. degree at San Jose State College.

Two physical education teachers, Sam John DeVito and John I. Carhart who were announced as new staff members earlier this year, will be on full time duty this fall.

DeVito took over the duties of Jack Danilovich as head football coach and physical education instructor when Danilovich took a less rigorous post as college job placement counselor upon the advice of his doctor.

DeVito earned the B.A. and M.A. degrees at San Francisco State College. Jack Carhart, the new assistant football coach, graduated from San Jose State College with the B.A. degree and went on to Stanford for the M.A. degree.

On The Lighter Side

By CAROL HODGES

"Kick-Off to Fall" is the theme of the annual fashion show to be staged by the Walnut Creek Jaycettes at El Nido Rancho September 19. This is their BIG affair of the year and promises to be an exciting one. Fashions will be furnished by Claudy's and Macil's Modes of Lafayette and I can't wait to see what the designers have dreamed up for us THIS year. Goodbye to sack dresses and thank goodness!

The members of the Lafayette Larks, Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, are looking forward to their September 10th meeting which will be held at the home of Marge Warburton. All classes of membership will be present for a short business meeting and will discuss the Unit's past activities, the plans for a luncheon and fashion show in September, and the annual Mardi Gras to be held in early February, 1960.

Three new members to join the Active Members list are Mrs. Hal McDonald, Mrs. Andrew Kritscher of Lafayette and Mrs. Kenneth Trahan of Danville. A social hour will follow the meeting and dessert will be served by the Warburton's lovely pool and those who desire are invited to swim. And the Cardinal Unit of the Therapy Center will hold their first meeting of the fall at the home of Lynn Dini in Walnut Creek.

They will complete their plans for a Coca Cola and orange drink booth at the Walnut Festival which will be held September 24th through the 27th. So if you're hot and thirsty, which will be more than likely—remember last year, be sure you look them up! Also mark your calendar October 3rd—the Cardinals are holding their first dance—informal—at the Elks Club in Walnut Creek. Call Mrs. Donald Smith, AT 3-3960, for tickets.

The field of medicine is losing one of its distinguished members, but only temporarily . . . just long enough to make a European tour: Dr. J. B. Hollingsworth, wife Jean and son Gordon, aged eleven, of Lafayette, will be touring London, part of France and Germany and the Scandinavian countries while their contemporaries at home cover the field of house calls, etc. Drs. and Mesdames W. E. Hart of Oakland, James A. Burr of Piedmont and Bruce Anderson and James MacDonald of Orinda attended a dinner party given for the Hollingsworths at the Oakland home of Dr. and Mrs. Henry S. Patton where hi-fi music was heard on the flower bedecked patio and doctors and wives danced and toasted the travelers-to-be.

A buffet dinner followed out of doors. There was certainly a doctor at THAT house!

Another party given for the Lafayette family transpired in two homes: Cocktails were served the Hollingsworths and their friends at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Root of Oakland and dinner was held at the home of physician Burt Christensen and his wife, also of Oakland. J. B., Jean and Gordon will fly to New York, then to London to begin their extensive trip.

They will conclude their tour by sailing home on the luxury liner "Liberty."

Progressive dinners are what they're COOKED up to be—and a delightful way to spend a summer evening. Another group of Thirty-four made their first "landing" at the home of the Tom Haspers of Walnut Creek where cocktails and "scads" of Hors-d'oeuvres were served. Then they pushed on to the Doug Cowans who furnished baked ham, corn on the cob and a delicious tossed salad.

The last stop was dessert and coffee served at the Don Campbells and later a midnight swim in the pool—no doubt to work off a few calories!

The pioneer spirit, if you are in doubt, is NOT dead! A caravan of four house trailers met in Fresno where Wagon Master Jim Stonhaus took over the responsibility of getting his band of followers to Baja California, Mexico.

A total of twenty-nine adventurous souls (including 10 small children) made the somewhat jerilous journey, and believe me if it weren't for the many well placed watering-stations along the way they never would have made it! Ray and Nan Cassani of Walnut Creek were among the four couples making up the caravan and their niece Brenda Hodges of Lafayette was one of three baby sitters taken along for obvious reasons.

They spent one day on their way down to visit Disneyland, but were unable to take in all the sights. One day is just not enough to spend in that FABULOUS place. They finally reached their destination—Estero Beach at Ensenada—hot and tired but spent two weeks resting, deep sea fishing an dplunging into the bright blue Southern waters. Bonnie Johanson, Kathy Desch, Diane Roth and Jackie La France, students of Acalanes High School, have just returned from a month's stay at Malibu, Canada—what a wonderful spot and what WONDERFUL time they had.

Malibu is one of three ranches operated by Young Life, a religious club, in high schools throughout 23 states and also in some parts of France and Germany.

The object of the club is to teach a "down to earth" understanding of Christianty, to meet new friends and to have FUN! Malibu is a million dollar paradise located on a beautiful lake, accommodates 300 "Young Lifers" a week, and offers swimming, water skiing, boating, fishing and golf plus entertainments put on by the Young Life leaders which, I understand, are hilarious!

Bonnie and her friends (nicknamed the "Schmots of '59," whatever that means) were among the lucky ones chosen to be on the work crew and were placed on the kitchen detail. Only 15 are allowed in the bay area to attend in this manner. At present and also on the work crew, are Mike Kritscher, president of the club, Diane Cherry, Melody Wilson, Carol English and Carol Annis.

Buz Johanson, Bonnie's brother, is just vacationing, as is Julie Sommer, who, however, chose to go to the Silver Cliff Ranch in Colorado.

Further "vacationers" include the Tam Haspers of Walnut Creek who are enjoying a two-week stay at La Selva Beach with their 10-year-old daughter Diane and a flying trip took Bob and Barbara Spitzack with their two little ones, Vicki and Jary, to Chicago and the Midwest where they visited relatives and college friends—a month of this—the lucky ones. . . . Miss Pat Smith of Lafayette winged her way to Los Angeles to visit her many friends there and to stay at the Chatman Park Hotel where she will spend a few days surrounded by pure luxury and five acres of GORGEOUS gardens. . . . Mrs. Paul Walters (Mary) with daughters Diane and Martha have left their Lafayette home to the care of hard-working father while staying at the Sierra summer home of Mary's mother. Several weeks passed then Paul received a telephone call from Mary . . . she's "lonesome."

Well, some men just have it. When the tall timbers, rushing streams, long lazy days and leisurely living can't keep the little woman away, you have it Made!

Orlo Brees Will Be Speaker for Local GOP Group

The kickoff speaker for the Orinda Republican Women's Club fall activity will be Orlo Brees, when he addresses the women of the Orinda and Lafayette Republican Women's Clubs at a joint luncheon meeting on Thursday, September 17, at 10 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Orinda Community Church.

Brees is public relations representative for the western division of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He has been a state senator, editor and publisher, and is a champion of free enterprise and the American way of life.

Brees is qualified to speak on the subject, "What is America?" The following is one of the oft quoted excerpts from his talk:

"When government overflows its banks to flood the areas of individual and local functioning, assuming the prerogative of furnishing either goods or services which the individual and community can provide for themselves in a wider range of choice and at less cost, it becomes a parasite rather than a producer, destructive rather than constructive, and a destroyer of liberty rather than its defender!"

Also on the morning program, celebrating Constitution Week, a dramatization of the Continental Congress and the adoption of the Constitution of the United States will be enacted by 15 Orinda Club members.

Luncheon will be served following the meeting at the Orinda home of Mrs. James Seaman, 19 St. James Court. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Seamon, CL 4-5337.

Mrs. Harold Sproul, club president, reminds members and all women interested in Republican principles that there is no activity more important to our families than that of maintaining good government.

Republican women from Lafayette and Orinda are invited to attend the meeting and luncheon.

Realtors to Begin Class

A class in "Effective Speaking, Human Relations and Salesmanship" will begin Monday under the sponsorship of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

Instructor will be Sherwood Knight. The board's building is at 1343 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

The class will be designed for the benefit of real estate salesmen and brokers.

Oakland Amphitheater To Become 'Old Bagdad'

The gigantic stage of Woodminster Amphitheater in Oakland's Joaquin Miller Park, is being transformed into a gaudy 14th century Baghdad for "Kismet," the Oakland Light Opera Association's most lavish production in many seasons.

The musical comedy, produced by John M. Falls under the sponsorship of the Oakland Park Commission, opens next Friday, and will be repeated September 19, 25 and 26, 8:30 p.m.

Music for "Kismet" has been adapted from the long-hair works of Alexander Borodin, a 19th century Russian composer with a flair for Oriental rhythms, by Robert Wright and George Forrest, the duo credited with modernizing Edvard Grieg's music for the "Song of Norway."

Carl Kalash, conductor of the musical Arabian night, claims the score is more difficult than that of any other musical.

It's all concert-hall material, with its long-hair bobbed, and the tricky playing problems left in Kismet's biggest song hit "Stranger In Paradise" is taken from Borodin's "In the Steppes of Central Asia."

The second most popular, "And This Is My Beloved," is from his "Quartet No. 2 in D Major," while "Rhymes Have I" is from "Prince Igor."

Heading the Association's large "Kismet" cast is Everett Nygaard as Hajj, an impudent beggar who sells poems on the steps of a Baghdad mosque with such success that he rises from rags to riches in one day.

Glorya Murphy and Mike Manley provide the love interest, with songs and laughs from Edgar Iverson, Donna Peterson, Don Martindale and Frank Falls.

Authentic serpentine dances are being choreographed by Raoul Pause for a special group of Oriental dancers.

Tickets for the musical extravaganza which closes the 1959 Woodminster light opera series are available at Sherman Clay, Oakland.

Theater box office opens at 7 on show nights. Parking for 1000 cars is available, free of charge, adjacent to the amphitheater.

An examination will be given for applicants in the Sixth Congressional District by the United States Civil Service Commission November 7 for young men interested in applying for the United States Military Academy, West Point, the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, the United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, and the United States Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, New York.

The next classes to enter these academies will begin in July, 1960.

Congressman John Baldwin said any young man in Solano or Contra Costa counties who desires to apply should contact one of his two district congressional offices not later than October 5, in person, by letter, or by telephone.

HIS TWO congressional offices are located at 447 Tenth Street, Richmond (BEacon 3-6343), and at Two Florida Street, Vallejo (MIdway 2-9923).

Applicants for these academies must, as of July 1, 1960, be not less than 17 and not more than 22 years of age.

Applicants must be unmarried and must be scheduled to complete their high school courses prior to next July 1.

Baldwin said the civil service examination will consist of three parts. These parts will cover vocabulary and reading comprehension, spatial relations, and algebra. He stated that the examination for applicants in the Sixth Congressional District will be held in Vallejo.

BALDWIN SAID there will be two vacancies at the U. S. Naval Academy to be filled from the California Sixth Congressional District, none at the U. S. Military Academy and one vacancy at the U. S. Air Force Academy.

In the case of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, the 10 applicants who place highest on the civil service examination will qualify to take a statewide competitive examination from which the top 18 in California will be selected to enter the academy.

Baldwin said the reason there were no vacancies for the Sixth Congressional District this year at the U. S. Military Academy is because none of the cadets at West Point from the Sixth District will graduate in 1960, and no vacancies will occur until one or more of these present cadets graduate.

SOME SIGNS of the times are these setting on the freeway between the Orinda Crossroads and the Charles Hill Road interchange. The green signs are to be placed in their locations as soon as the new link of the freeway is completed. Although the arrows tell you differently, it would be a difficult task to squeeze under the large signs as they now sit. This photo will answer a very important question for many residents of the Acalanes-Happy Valley area, because it points out that both locations are receiving freeway recognition. — Sun photo by Mattson.

Suburban

Sunday morning the Suburban Bible Church will observe its first anniversary.

The church, which began one year ago this month with a prayer meeting for prayer and divine guidance, has steadily grown from week to week.

The church is an interdenominational community church and was founded by the Reverend Gray Lambert.

Reverend Lambert taught school in the Lafayette School District while the church was in its beginning stages.

During the past year the church has been meeting in the Veteran's Building, 1250 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

In addition to a steady growth in attendance the church has also grown in its interest in home and foreign missions.

At present the church is taking an active part, either in prayer or by means of financial support, in the work of nine different mission boards and agencies representing such areas as: the Orient, Latin America, Europe, the Slavic countries, South America and the Islands of the Pacific.

Some of the high points of the past year's activities have been the organization of home Bible classes, special youth activities, the visit of the 45-voice Bible Chorale which provided a musical, entertainment and spiritual blessing to several hundred members and friends of the church, the visits of outstanding missionary statesmen to the church and the formation of "A Fellowship of Prayer."

DURING THE past year Sunday school services have been held at the 11 a.m. hour concurrently with the morning worship service. Also nursery facilities are available for smaller children.

Some of the activities of the church include a ladies Bible class which meets in the homes of members of the church, midweek family prayer and Bible study, Sunday evening youth services and a fellowship of prayer.

During the month of September the ladies Bible class will meet in the home of Mrs. Raymond Wulfert, 62 Rheem Boulevard, Orinda.

ALSO ANYONE desiring special prayer is requested to call AT 3-6315 and one of the members of the fellowship of prayer will be happy to remember your request in prayer. All requests are held in strict confidence and all requests will be remembered in united prayer by the group.

According to Reverend Lambert, this prayer ministry has been most helpful and many remarkable answers to prayer have been experienced.

Invitations for Festival Parade Are in the Mail

Walnut Creek parade chairman Bill Martin announced that over 250 invitations have been sent to prospective participants.

It will be held September 27 at 1 p.m.

The parade will start at Broadway Plaza, proceeding west on Broadway Plaza, north on North Main, turning east at Civic Drive, disbanding at the festival grounds.

Assistant chairman is Bill Smikahl. Committeemen are Henry Mohr (awards); King Parker Jr. and John Morken (dignitaries and honored guests); Gene Spencer (floats); Ben Martinez (marching units); Jack Tait (parade movement; Bob Curtis (transportation); Jack Fisher (horse division).

THIS WEEK entries blanks began pouring into the festival office.

Some of the entries received are "The Castroville Drum and Bell Corps"; a float from the Berkeley Jr. Chamber of Commerce; The Pershing Rifle Honor Guard from San Jose State College; the prize winning float entry of the 1958 parade "The Nisei Civic Society" and a Drum and Bugle Drill team from Marine Barracks, Concord.

The festival's entertainment highlight for 1959—a full-fledged outdoor ice show under a warm September sun—will feature two stars of the ice rink now living in Walnut Creek.

They are Neil Rose and Lloyd "Skippy" Baxter, who now teach future skaters at their own ice rink in Walnut Creek. Both were professional stars in top ice shows in this country and abroad for many years.

ROSE WILL be remembered as one of the famous "rookies," an act which played with the Sonja Henie ice revues, appeared on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" and in a motion picture "Flying Skates."

Skippy Baxter was a star with the Sonja Henie show for more than 10 years.

Early in his career he won the Pacific Coast and National single and pair championships. He became one of the greatest skaters of our time, being the first human on skates to do three turns in the air.

Both Baxter and Rose will appear in the Walnut Festival's "Summer Winter - Wonderland" ice show with a host of other professional and amateur ice stars.

SETTING UP the outdoor ice rink will be no mean task in itself, according to Rose and Baxter.

Approximately one mile of pipe and 20 tons of refrigeration equipment will be required.

A Final Demonstration Climaxing Ford's 3 Years and 3 Million Miles of Research and Development on the New Ford Falcon . . .

EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.

A fleet of Falcons is going to undergo a final exhausting test . . . over every single mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway . . . along a crisscross route that will include the ups and downs of two major mountain ranges, the challenges of every type of roadway and thruway, main street and boulevard.

THIS VERY MINUTE... THE NEW-SIZE FORD IS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. This week the new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested . . . everything-tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it takes anything they can dish out.

Now, Experience Run, U.S.A. will show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads.

How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon!

On October 8, the New-size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's . . . for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Ford Falcon.

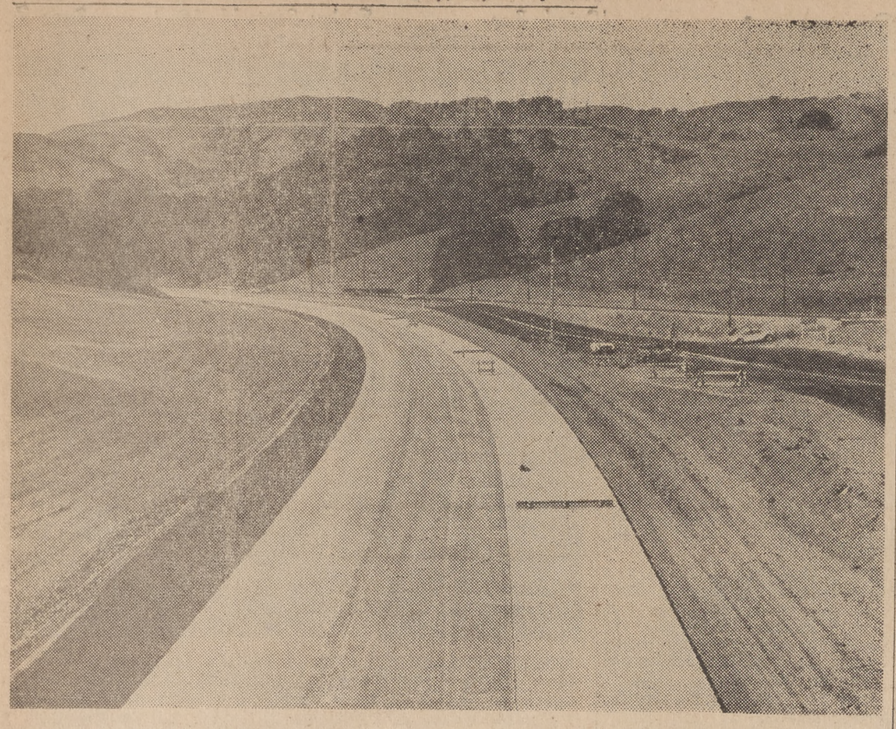
Mt. Diablo Blvd. at Happy Valley Rd. — Lafayette



STILL NOT OPEN to public use are these recently-laid concrete strips, which ultimately will become the three eastbound lanes of the Lafayette-Orinda section of the freeway. Paving of the lanes began August 17, and estimates indicate they will be opened about October 1, at which time another detour will be placed in effect along the freeway section. Although one of the ramps of the new Charles Hill Road interchange leads onto these new lanes, the road is not complete and is not open. — Sun photo by Mattson.

Stove Explodes; Old Home Burns

A gasoline camp stove exploded in the historic Withers Ranch home on Reliez Valley Road near Withers Avenue, causing $25,000 damage.

But Mrs. Julie Robinson, wife of Dr. Harold Robinson, prominent Walnut Creek physician, and their children were not seriously injured. They and neighbors battled the flames before Central Fire District trucks arrived.

Mrs. Robinson was preparing dinner on the stove, since during their moving operations they had disconnected the kitchen stove. Dr. Robinson arrived on the scene and treated his wife for burns of the face and arms.

The Robinsons had offered the home for sale and were moving to 480 Arbol Via, so Robinson will be nearer to the John Muir Hospital site. He is a hospital trustee.

Part-Time Classes Are Still Open

Earlier than usual registration by Diablo Valley College's part-time students has resulted in less congested night classes this fall than in recent years.

Verle Henstrand, assistant dean of instruction, said with vacancies in some 60 of the classes offered, more enrollments will be taken.

He asked those persons to report to the Student Activities Building any night except next Friday night. Later registration will be possible, but not for college credit after the first two nights of class meeting, he explained.

MONDAY night 18-week classes having room for more students include those in anthropology, all the business courses except beginning accounting, elementary algebra, introduction to geography, law enforcement, introduction to musical literature, introduction to sociology, and the 10-week class in principles of real estate finance.

Among the open Tuesday night classes are second-semester principles of accounting, Ideas in Contemporary Society, an English class; report-writing and living drama, two other English classes; Education for Healthful Living, marine navigation, general physics, vocational and educational planning, a psychology class; the 10-weeks aviation class in theory of flight and Civil Air regulations, and a similar length class in Group Dynamics, a management course with some prerequisites.

The Tuesday afternoon class in personal development, 2 to 4 p.m. taught by Miss Wilma Wright, has some vacancies.

Legal Aspects of the Construction Industry, a comparatively new course taught by Frederick C. Kracke, Walnut Creek attorney, on Wednesday nights has room for several more students.

CLASSES in History of the Far East, slide rule, music appreciation, California real estate law and others are available.

Thursday night classes still open include office management, tax accounting, principles of economics, Analysis and Evaluation in Mass Communication, an English class; home furnishing and decoration, Analysis of Great Ideas, plane geometry, plane and spherical trigonometry, political science, and the 10-weeks class in cost reduction, a management course.

Beginning clothing construction, an afternoon class from 2 to 5 p.m. is not yet filled.

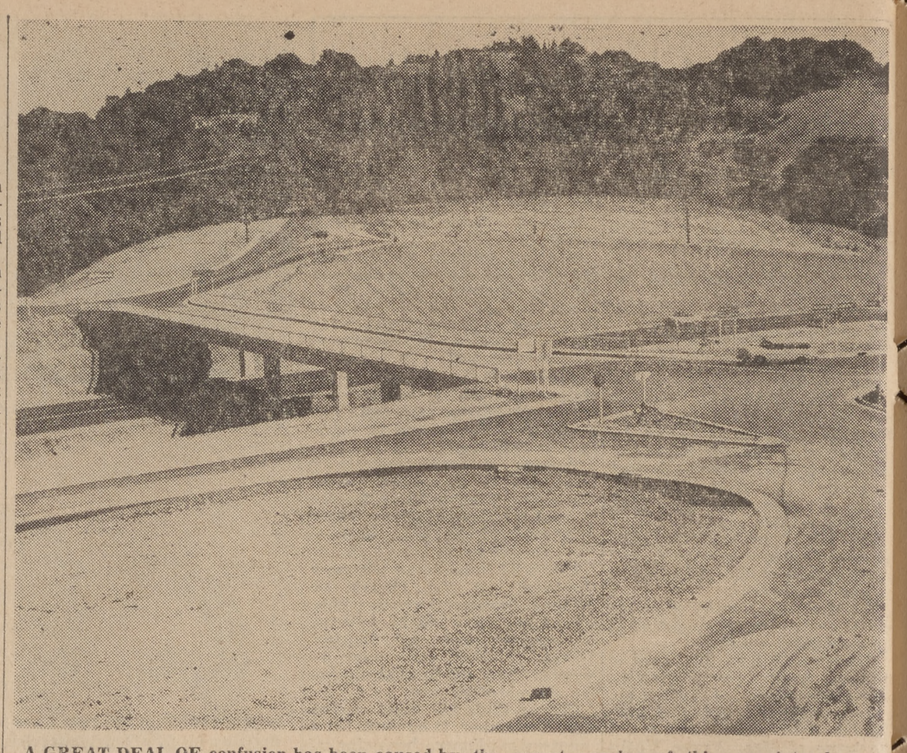
Engineering 140, a class in elementary surveying which was changed to Friday nights 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to noon, has room for more students.

Answers to questions on classes still available, on registering for college credit, pre-requisites and other matters may be obtained by telephoning the part-time students office.

Alamo Hospital Is Denied

The County Board of Adjustment has denied an application for establishment of a 50-bed hospital on the Danville Highway at Bella Vista Drive, Alamo.

Applicant was Dean B. Spurgeon. This is the second such application in the past year.



A GREAT DEAL OF confusion has been caused by the recent opening of this new interchange along the freeway at Charles Hill Road. The roads at the bottom right of this elaborate geometric design are still dead-end arterials and have not been opened by the State Division of Highways. Motorists are able to use the off and on ramps for access to the freeway and Charles Hill Road to the north, but attempts to go south on the new structure are fruitless. The state has indicated the road will be opened shortly. — Sun photo by Mattson.

High School Algebra Begun by WC Graders

Nearly 80 Walnut Creek School District boys and girls this week began high school level albegra began high school level algebra 25-year-old William Aho.

"We will be moving along quite rapidly, once we have the basics out of the way. There will probably be some drop outs, but these youngsters are all interested, and have top quality," he said.

AHO, a graduate of Western Washington College, Bellingham, Wash., will teach for 40 minutes each weekday morning at Parkmead Upper School, and each afternoon at Walnut Creek School.

These two schools are now the "junior highs" of the district. All the eighth graders who qualified for the advanced course this year by cramming two years of grade school math last year, are Parkmead or Walnut Creek School students.

Aho said, "We will begin a quick review of eighth grade subjects and the elementary set theory, that is the basis of mathematics, and fundamental laws of arithmetic and algebra.

"It should be a very interesting year," he observed.

Aho has an education degree and a science master's degree from Western Washington College.

UNDER NATIONAL Science Foundation sponsorship, he has done advanced work at the University of Colorado and will continue his studies next year at Oregon State College.

His wife, Judy, and sons, Mark, 5, and Steve, 3, will soon settle in the area where their breadwinner will supply the local district's first reply to Russia's Sputnick.

New state textbooks which public school children will use for the first time this year were introduced at a series of teachers' workshops concluding today.

Organizations and content of the new texts in spelling, science, health and handwriting were described by consultants from the staff of county superintendent Floyd Marchus at meetings held last week Wednesday at Danville and Moraga.

Schools represented at yesterday's meeting were Moraga, Canyon, San Ramon, Port Costa and Selby.

The new texts were discussed by Byron Cross, Miss Mary Durkin and Miss Alice McMaster. Dr. Francis Burke, director of educational services, and Mrs. Sue Clark spoke on the selection and interpretation of tests.

Consultants who took part in earlier meetings of the series were Mrs. Georgia Cooper, Walter Harris, Mrs. Doris Foley and Mrs. Gertha Brown.

The county staff also participated in other pre-school meetings by introducing a new third grade social studies unit developed by Contra Costa County teachers. These meetings will continue after school opens.

Miss Durkin addressed Lafayette teachers today on the use of the new unit to teach third graders.

WHAT'S DOING
Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

As any mother knows, it's usually hard to keep kids away from the phone. They love to use it. And it's important they learn how to use it properly when they're young. That's why we put together "Adventures in Telezonia." It's a teaching kit, complete with puppet movie, shown above, that shows grade school students how best to use the telephone. We worked it out at the request of teachers and with their assistance. It teaches the right way to make calls, including those from public phones. And this training helps everybody get better telephone service. "Adventures in Telezonia" is available to schools just for the asking.

September's back-to-school time in a lot of families. Time to remember that a long distance call is a fine way to keep in touch with the kids away from home. Why not plan now to set aside a certain night each week for a telephone visit with your favorite student. And station-to-station rates are lower after 6 p.m. weekdays and all day Sunday, you know — even lower than you might think. Pacific Telephone

Traffic Citations? They Should Be Able to Give 'Em!

If you get a speeding or traffic ticket in Contra Costa County, you'll get it either from a California Highway Patrol officer or from a city police officer.

The reason for this is simple . . . the Sheriff's Office deputies don't give out traffic tickets.

Many bills which pass the state legislature don't come into the public limelight, but a very interesting one was signed into law this session by Governor Edmund G. Brown.

He signed a bill permitting the supervisors of Los Angeles County to authorize the sheriff to enforce traffic laws on county highways in unincorporated areas.

THE BILL ALSO requires the sheriff to forward monthly traffic accident reports to the highway patrol.

The passage of this bill was in no way a reflection on the abilities of the highway patrol. The supervisors of that county said they merely want to augment present highway patrol facilities and provide services where the patrol does not have the manpower to handle the situation.

Now if this isn't a logical attitude, it would be hard to find one.

We see absolutely no reason why the same thing couldn't be accomplished for Contra Costa County.

IN NO WAY DO we want to turn the already pressed sheriff's deputies into traffic policemen. Nor do we want to disparage the fine work that the highway patrol has done in our area.

But it is just plain stupid to have marked cars patrolling the unincorporated areas of the county without the ability to give traffic citations.

No one would expect the sheriff's office to patrol just for traffic violations. There is much more important work for the deputies to do. But they should certainly have the power to issue traffic citations when they see a violation.

After all, they have to use the county highways and roads to cover their patrol beats, so why not have the power to enforce the laws on these roads?

EVEN AS OUR various communities decide to take over local control and incorporate, there will be much unincorporated area left in the county, and sheriff's deputies should be able to patrol it with every weapon of law enforcement at their command.

Remember, much of Los Angeles County is incorporated, but this didn't stop the Los Angeles Supervisors from requesting this legislation.

Frankly, we think it is a good idea. In this case, it is good for them and it is good for us.

We'd like to see such legislation directed our way.

SCHOOL IS OPEN again and a number of high schoolers are getting a car for the first time. Don't start off the school year with an accident. Drive with caution and with care for others. Don't act like these "Juveniles." — Sun photo.

Just Be Careful, That's All... It's A Responsibility

School time is here again, and you know what that means. It means that children by the hundreds are walking to school, riding buses to school and riding bicycles to school.

It also means that we each have to be just that much more careful in our driving habits.

How would you feel in that awful instant after you have come to a skidding halt when you realize that you have just hit a child?

How would you feel when you dashed from the car to see the body of a child lying just under your rear wheels?

THESE ARE OBVIOUS, and not very pleasant, questions. We hope they never need to be answered, and they don't need to be if the proper care is taken.

Take the proper passing of a school bus, for example. Each school bus has red lights front and rear, and when these are flashing, you just don't pass, that's all.

It is a wise precaution to slow to a crawl every time you approach a standing school bus. But the law requires you to stop if those red lights are flashing.

IN ORDER TO pick up children or to let them off at appointed stops, the flashing red light serves as a good warning to all motorists. The quiet authority of this signal cannot be ignored.

It means that children, with all of their playfulness and sudden activity are near, and you must expect the unexpected.

But school buses are not the only danger point. It is needless to issue warnings about care while driving near a school. Also, hundreds of children are walking to and from school, and riding bikes, and extra care is required lest one of them be harmed.

The odd part is, we all know we are careful drivers. It is the other guy who drives too fast, or who doesn't know about stopping by a school bus, or who ignores children on bikes.

This attitude is falacious. Each of us is responsible, and it is up to each of us to practice what we preach.

Nobody, we're sure, would want to live with the responsibility of having struck a child, no matter where the blame may lie.

But it happens. Try to see that it is not your fault. Be careful.

We Like It Here . . .

No Back-to-School Blues Or Boo-Hoo Adoos Here

By MARIE MONAHAN

A BIG WHOOP-De-Do went up around town this week.

The children went Back to School. An the Mothers went Back To Bed!

We are sitting here stirring up the java & developing a kind of complex.

For seven years we have been waiting for the "Blues" to set in.

THAT is what they tell us should happen — some of the other mothers, the older ones, who've been through this before.

Well, we HAVE been through this before. Three times, in fact.

In fact, we ARE an older mother.

But we're STILL waiting for those Back-To-School Blues.

As each child's tur ncame to trip to the bus stop & board the bus, we admit a change came over us.

Our adrenalin shot up. The heart hammered hard.

BUT it was ONLY because we had to walk back UP the hill to our house after the old "Orange Crate" roared off.

WE wanted to strew rose petals in the bus driver's path.

We could SCARCELY contain ourselves from dancing a jig.

There were NEVER any Blues. Not even Boo-Hoos.

THE LILLIPUTS were probably just as glad to get a rest from us as we were from them. It was very Even-Steven.

THEN after eleven years, we couldn't believe it. We were all to ourselves, FINALLY!

For a long time we'd planned that when No. 3 graduated from a Sandpail to a Lunchpail that we'd send up flares, Shoot The Works, Dress To Kill & join the ranks of gay ladies who tripped to town to shop & take lunch with their hubbies.

WHEN that Big Day finally arrived, the shock to our system — the overpowering quietude, was so positively blissful we were compelled to stay home & enjoy it.

BED-MAKING & Dishes became FUN! It made a difference that we could HEAR the music on the radio. That our cup of coffee got drank while HOT & remained unspilled.

That when we vacuumed or washed the windows we could enjoy our efforts for a maximum of 6-7 hours instead of 6-7 minutes.

When neighbors dropped in we could chat without children playing Leap Frog upon us. Or if the telephone rang, nobody cut us off from the other phone or wanted a "turn to talk, Mommy."

DON'T get us wrong. We LOVED those years. (While we HAD to put up with them.)

Now the kiddies are in school enjoying themselves & we are enjoying OURSELVES & glad, glad, glad they are in school.

But like THEY said, maybe we should feel a bit Blue. Maybe we are an Unnatural Mother. It gives us a slight guilt complex.

But we'll think about it. We'll sit in the sun & think about it!

Letters to The Editor

THANK YOU

Dear Editor:

We wish to extend our thanks and sincere appreciation to you for the publicity given us on our fashion show held at the El Nido Rancho in Lafayette on August 29.

Our show was a real success and we know that the fine publicity we received had a great deal to do with it.

Thank you. We are very grateful to you for your cooperation and assistance, and for the many past favors and news coverage which we have received in The Sun.

CHILDREN'S HOME

Dear Editor:

Another season is opening for the many chapters of the Children's Home Society of California in their effort to raise necessary funds to further the work done by the home in placing children for adoption.

May I take this opportunity to say a personal thank you for your cooperation in the past and hope that we may count on the same warm spirit of helpfulness in the future.

What greater satisfaction can anyone receive, than to know that perhaps we have in some small measure helped a child who otherwise would be homeless and unloved placed where the grateful new parents give both the home and boundless love?

MRS. CLARENCE W. RICHARDSON

SHERIFF

Dear Editor:

Why put all the blame on Sheriff Young for the "vices" in Contra Costa County?

They were here long before he took office. He cannot undo in a few months what has been going on for years.

I and hundreds of other people think he is doing a good job, and if he had the full cooperation of his staff he could have done more.

When complaints are turned in, and he is not given the messages, he cannot do anything. I sincerely hope that the undesirables in the sheriff's office will be cleaned out.

And we know Sheriff Young will do a good job. If we the people did not think he was the man for the job, we would not have put him in office.

Here's the Amazing Story Of 'Big Bill' Pechart

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

William "Big Bill" Pechart last week called Charles F. Cooper "a — — — liar."

This was in reply to the charge that Cooper had named Pechart as the backer in Cooper's alleged $150,000 bribe offer to District Attorney John Nejedly. This was to be shared with Sheriff Walter Young and "one of the county's newspapers."

Cooper's trial could be a dilly. His attorney is Bob Condon, a brilliant barrister and our former congressman. The trial could reveal some of the amazing politics and vice connections of the county. It could embarrass a lot of people. Condon seemed to be talking that way, when he demanded the release of the entire transcript of the grand jury's vice investigation.

On the other hand, one rumor whispers that a deal has been made to hush everything. Cooper is supposed to plead guilty, be sent up for 18 months or so, and "be taken care of," according to rumor.

Meet our 'friend'

If this is not true and the case is fought, Pechart, former gambling czar, may play a prominent role.

Through the years, The Sun has been "good friends" with Mr. Pechart and his partner Dave Kessel. We've printed thousands of inches about them; we've talked about them to the Senate Crime Commission, California Crime Commission and Attorney General's office. We hope that in some small way The Sun has helped to push them out of the county.

Pechart and Kessel applied for a gambling license in Reno — and were turned down. Nevada wouldn't have them. Pechart is now working in the Mapes Hotel in Reno.

As told by S.F. News

Today I'm going to use the story by Al Ostrow, as it appeared in the San Francisco News in 1950. Here it is:

Having heard only a small portion of the Contra Costa County story, Senator Kefauver and his colleagues, Senator Charles Tobey of New Hampshire and Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, expressed "shock" and "amazement."

The full story is even more amazing, with ramifications that affect many prominent persons, include the literal seizure of political control in several communities by guile and pressure, the ruthless crushing of competition and the apparent immunity from prosecution of bold, open lawbreakers.

Pechart and Kessel have reigned supreme in Contra Costa County for 18 years. Big Bill has boasted openly that he "owns" the county, and also its sheriff and district attorney.

Giant gambling grab

The two, teaming up with Remmer, have made grabs for even greater income by attempted "taking over" of other Northern California, San Joaquin Valley and Mother Lode country gambling rackets.

From a sedate office in El Cerrito, underneath Pechart's lavishly-furnished residence, Pechart and Kessel direct a chain-store type of gambling operations. Some places they own outright; they have "a piece" of others; and some rivals they permit to run on a sort of "franchise tax" basis.

They had one of the biggest strings of slot machines in California. When new state law making mere possession of one-armed bandits illegal took effect, they cautiously shipped most of their vast collection to Reno.

Kessel and Pechart formerly ran several wide open gambling joints in the city of El Cerrito. When a reform ticket won an election, the police chief told them to stop operating—or else.

Without batting an eye, they moved their major enterprises onto "No Man's Land"—the little area just outside the El Cerrito City limits.

They have interests in the —— on San Pablo Dam Road, the Club in San Pablo, big horse race handbooks and a half dozen other spots. They have also displayed a keen concern with gambling enterprises on the Tunnel Strip.

When San Pablo was first incorporated as a city in 1948 there were rumors that gamblers had initiated the move to get themselves a "haven." The first city council, which refused to tolerate open gambling, was recalled in 1949, in a bitterly fought election. Immediately after, fairly open gambling commenced. Kessel's criminal record includes an arrest for bookmaking in El Cerrito.

District Attorney Collins (replaced by Nejedly in January, 1959) had lunch with defendant Kessel—then went into court and moved to dismiss the bookmaking charge because of "insufficient evidence."

Pechart, too, was lucky in his tangles with the law.

At various times, Pechart and Kessel have used the legal and tax advisory services of Tom Carlson, former Republican national committeeman, and Cliff Anglin and John Lewis, both former U.S. collectors of internal revenue.

Get out of here

. . . ! a group of tavern and restaurant owners in the eastern end of Contra Costa County banded together in an effort to smash the syndicate's slot machine monopoly. They threw out Pechart's one-armed bandits and bought their own. Sheriff's deputies raided every one of the places, confiscated the machines, but making no arrests.

There are telephone records in existence which show frequent calls from Pechart and Kessel enterprises to the district attorney's home and to personnel of the sheriff's office.

A punchboard salesman who attempted to do business was warned by Pechart that he didn't "want any outsiders horning in" because he claimed to "own this county." The "outsider" was run out of the county.

Read this 'tribute'

Senator Kefauver, announcing the contempt and perjury citations, said sternly: "David N. Kessel is one of the most sinister characters this committee has ever had before it. We have received very substantial charges of his gambling, slot machine, high-handed methods, and use of political influence for protection. He appears to be a bad influence in Contra Costa County. He has little regard for the rights of the state or others."

(Editor's note: Pechart was also cited for contempt of the Senate. Both were later released).

"The information we have on Contra Costa County would really make a best seller," Senator Tobey declared. "Something is going to be done about it."

That's the end of the S.F. News' report. The gambling empire folded just a few years ago, even though some of Pechart's former (?) employees are still around. At least one is a local pinball machine operator.

The current gambling and vice investigation clearly indicates that an attempt has been made in the past months to re-establish a gambling-vice machine.

What do you think?

But Think Anyway... That Fence Is Almost Human

By NORMAN COLBY

If we finally get all the freeways we need in our area, the next step might be to apply for those new type center-strip fences which the California Division of Highways has developed.

Needed or not, we might even learn something from watching this fence, developed after exhaustive tests, in action.

It avoids headon collisions on freeways in much the same way most people try to avoid every-day social collisions which can be almost as ruinous.

It gives a little on impact — but not too much.

The standard, according to Division of Highways July-August magazine:

" . . . strong enough to fulfill the barrier concept while at the same time capable of deforming into a smooth curve without 'pocketing' under collision.

" . . . A change of direction of the colliding car would not be as abrupt as if the barrier were as completely rigid as a concrete wall.

" . . . the semi-rigid barrier should provide some opportunity to the occupants of the offending car to survive, and at the same time permit a reflection of the car at an angle flat enough to allow following cars an opportunity for evasive action."

The editors add, " . . . unfortunately a concrete barrier (another type) produces much higher decelerations . . . (and) and chance of survival during violent collisions appears to be minimized."

Question: did the state engineers, faced with the problems of opposing forces and human beings gone wrong, forsake science for psychology?

Or, is there more to the day-to-day highway construction than mixing cements and maneuvering slide rules?

Difficulties in Suburbia Schools Make 'Big News'

There are many difficulties in the schools of suburbia, difficulties in getting enough good schools and teachers fast enough to meet our exploding needs — without bankrupting us in the process.

And yet, according to noted educator, Dr. Thomas E. Robinson, suburban schools are leading the way in American education today. The president of the State Teachers College in Glassboro, New Jersey, reports in Suburbia Today this month on the unique opportunities that suburban schools offer any beginning teacher, both in personal and professional growth. Suburbia Today appears with today's edition of The Sun.

THE SECOND HALF of our school portfolio is not quite so rosy—but it does help point up the excitement that is found in suburban school systems all over the country.

The story is about our vast needs in the field of education, and about the many problems of finance encountered in meeting these needs. The battle for better schools is far from won, but many taxpayers all over the country are beginning to wonder if the bill is going to be too high.

There are many other stories, too, in this month of September, that all reflect the atmosphere of "well, the summer is about over, it's time to settle down and get to work again."

ONE FEATURE tells about a method devised by the parishioners of St. Stephen's Church in Orinda to raise money for a building fund. Instead of just signing a check, they all got together and sold services to each other. In just two months, they had swelled the building fund by hundreds of dollars, and they had a grand time discovering each other's talents.

The food pages, this month, are dedicated to school days, sociability, and satisfying breakfasts. Here are a number of easy-to-make, kitchen-tested ways for the wife-mother-cook to send her children, her guests and her husband off in a blaze of good spirits.

There is also a delightful tale about a tiger-like budget that "talks back" but that also put this family on the road to solvency.

IN BOOKS, Movies, and Records, this month, you will meet Marie Boozer, five musical Pennies, and the zaniest millionaires on record.

Diablo Therapy Center Membership Drive Starts

The 1959-60 membership drive of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center got underway today recently with the mailing of 60,000 appeals to Contra Costa residents, John E. McKirahan, president, said today.

Funds to meet current expenses of the non-profit Contra Costa County community-supported physical rehabilitation center are urgently needed. McKirahan asked Contra Costa residents to join the Center now by returning their self-addressed membership mailers together with a generous contribution.

McKirahan pointed out that "in Contra Costa County through the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, we have shouldered our responsibility to our fellow residents disabled by accident or disease. So far we have helped almost 3000 people rebuild their own lives and gain fullest possible participation in the social and business world. In countless cases patients have regained the dignity of self-support."

Located in Pleasant Hill, the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center has received national recognition. Any resident outpatient with a physician's prescription is welcomed, and pays only if financially able.

Rehabilitation is provided by fulltime, registered and certified therapists; a manual shop is available and is encouraged by industrial leaders; the services of psychologists are supplied when required.

The money from memberships helps keep the door of hope wide open in the carrying out of vital rehabilitation work in Contra Costa County.

Flamingo Unit Plans to Sell Christmas Cards

For the sixth year, the fall project of the Flamingo Unit of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center will be to raise funds by the selling of Christmas cards and miscellaneous paper products.

Each member will have a party in her home, at which time she will sell cards and paper products to her friends and neighbors. All proceeds from these sales will go toward the work at the center on Golf Links Road.

Mrs. James Howe is chairman of the special Therapy Card, Mrs. Charles W. Webb is chairman of the paper goods products and Mrs. Eugene Ingalls is chairman of the Christmas card sales.

Mrs. Norman Gibson is president of the Flamingo Unit

Area Girl Scout Council Will Hold Kickoff Meet

Because the interchange of ideas and information among our Diablo Valley area Girl Scout Council is vital, discussion groups will be found of neighborhood chairmen, district chairmen and the executive board — on the intriguing subject of "Beware the C. B. Bird."

You may know "CB Birds" — the initials stand for "communication barrier" and they are around and operating in business and organizations as well as clubs and social gatherings, but we think the Girl Scout Council has found the way not only to recognize them, but to help them recognize themselves.

AFTER THE 9:30 a.m. registration Wednesday at the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, Oakland Boulevard in Walnut Creek, Mrs. Ernest Fernsten, second vice president, will welcome the chairmen and open the meeting.

President Mrs. Robert Freeman will stress communications in her address "Key to Unity of Action."

This will be followed by discussion groups on such well-known "CB Birds" as: "Trembly Kneed Word Eater" (never expresses an opinion pro or con) "Fast Reactor Conclusion Jumper" (reacts fast—too fast, jumps to conclusions good or bad), "Zipper Lipped Fact Stoppers" (acts as a dam on the stream of ideas and information that comes his way, never passes along information), "Non - Listening Thought Stopper" (his or her ears stop listening after the first few words or directions are given) and one of the best known, "Rigid Thinking Blinderbird" (like communicating with a stone wall—he knows only one way for something to be done and sees no alternative!)

Do these birds resemble anyone you know? Reporters for each group will be allotted five minutes to relay results of their discussion period to entire assembly.

Miss Mabel Bunneke, executive director of DVAGS, will present the council's plan of work followed by Mrs. W. C. Bonner, troop organizer.

Leader training will be discussed by Mrs. I. L. Powell, chairman of training committee, and Mrs. J. Orr Kyle, program training advisor. Program resources will be discussed by Mrs. W. W. Wiggins.

REPORTS ON summer camps will be given by Mrs. W. C. Smith, third vice president and Miss Elsie Buchwald, camping advisor.

Following a brief lunch period Mrs. Kenneth Hallstone will discuss United Crusade and council financing, Mrs. Vern Kaufman, calendar sales, Mrs. Gordon Livingston, troop financing—both are members of the finance committee.

Mrs. William J. Marshall will report on news releases and Mrs. Richard Leland, secretary of the membership nominating committee, in her "who's who," will discuss council awards. Mrs. Frank Sayre, field advisor, will talk on opportunities for neighborhood and district chairmen to meet.

DISTRICT AND neighborhood chairmen scheduled to attend the meeting are:

Alamo: Mrs. J. W. Dieterich, district chairman, and Mrs. Blaine Dixon and Mrs. A. H. Ehrenstamm, neighborhood chairmen.

Danville: Mrs. Richard Craig, district chairman; Mrs. L. A. Woodside, Greenwoodair; Mrs. S. H. Wenk, Stardust; Mrs. I. H. Magill, Valle Verde.

LAFAYETTE: MRS. Stuart Smith, district chairman; Mrs. Erwin Easton, Burton; Mrs. Sheldon C. Cook, Happy Valley; Mrs. John Doane, Lafayette; Mrs. K. O. Martens, Montecito; Mrs. J. Wilbur Hendrickson Jr., Springhill.

Pleasant Hill: Mrs. Carter Miles, district chairman; Mrs. Otto A. Samson, Diablo Vista; Mrs. R. A. Battin, Gregory Gardens; Mrs. Neal L. Kline, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. James Orr, Strandwood.

Don't forget Wednesday, September 16, Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Children's Art Program Grows In 12th Year

Expansion of the Cooperative Art Association program to three more schools with total enrollment of more than 300 children is expected this year.

The program began 12 years ago when Mrs. Peter Howard held classes in her Walnut Creek home.

A charter group was later formed to provide two classes, one of which was in Lafayette. The Junior League was sponsor of both until the Association was able to stand alone, financially.

CLASSES are held for almost every elementary school in the Lafayette and Walnut Creek Area.

More than 2000 people attended the annual exhibit-tea last May in the Howards' home.

Students for the Fall classes are recommended in the Spring by third, fourth and fifth grade teachers, and by mothers or other adults who recommend and sponsor a child.

Again, just after the beginning of school, further enrollments are accepted insofar as the capacities of the classes will permit.

THE CO-OPERATIVE Art Association provides all classes with well qualified teachers. They are chosen for their ability to develop creative thinking, with preference given to those with strong fine arts, rather than craft training.

The nominal annual fee of $10 per student includes the membership of each mother or sponsor in the Association. Monthly social "Coffees" are held for the enjoyment of these adult members in different homes—at which time problems or points of interest are brought before the group.

Dramateurs Will Begin New Play This Weekend

The Dramateurs are in the final stages of rehearsal for the production of Terrence Rattigan's drama, "The Winslow Boy," the action of which takes place in Kensington, England, extending over a period of two years preceding the war of 1914-1918.

The play revolves around the Winslow boy, (Dick Bohr playing the title role) who has been expelled from his school for supposedly stealing a postal order.

THE BOY'S FATHER, played by James Stanislawsky, spends practically all of his money by dragging the case through the courts for two years, in his attempt to clear the boy's name, thereby upholding the family honor.

Others appearing in the cast are Helen Blankenburg, Orealllia Salonen, Julia Whitcombe, Jewel Scheeline, Bruce Winkworth, Robert O'Connor, Paul Stillson, Robert Burkhart and Dominic Scortt.

The Dramateurs' fine director is Carl Rasmussen, who has been ably assisted by Dorris Stillson, Wirtabel Harris and Mary Genesy.

"THE WINSLOW BOY" opens Friday, September 11, and will run for four consecutive weekends at the Town Hall in Lafayette.

Tickets and reservations are available in Berkeley at Hink's Book Department, Peg Stanislawsky, TH 5-1100 and in Orinda, Clarence Betz, CL 4-4141. Also at Ben's 7 Arts Book Store, 1364 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, YE 5-3384.

Cancer Gifts Set Record

Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Orinda and Pleasant Hill residents all contributed all-time record totals to the 1959 Cancer Crusade. Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, president of the Contra Costa Cancer Society, gave figures at the close of the society's fiscal year.

The totals are as follows: Walnut Creek, $6632; Orinda, $6232; Lafayette, $5146, and Pleasant Hill, $2975.

Dr. Pellegrin said the funds will be used to support vital research to help find the answer to cancer, for lifesaving public education, and for day-to-day service to cancer patients.

Counseling Available In Alamo

The Contra Costa Family Service has opened an office in the Alamo Medical Building, Danville Highway.

Judge Manuel Rose Jr., president of the service, said the nonprofit corporation was founded after three years of study by the Community Welfare Councils.

Individual and group counseling is available in cases of marital difficulties, parent children relationships, school and behavior problems of children and adolescents, personal adjustment problems, problems of illness, old age and employment.

Counseling will be offered at a fixed fee of $10 per interview.

"The board of directors hopes that as a result of contributions from individuals, organizations and possibly the United Crusade, that they may soon be able to subsidize the cost of treatment for those who are unable to pay the prevailing rate," said Rose.

Members of the board of directors include Mrs. Robert H. Carlson, Lafayette; Dr. Irving Fine, Pleasant Hill; Ben F. Hartinger, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. John H. Selley, Walnut Creek.

Dramateurs Will Open School September 26th

The Dramateurs' School of Dramatic Expression, offering classes in creative drama for children between the ages of 9 and 12 and lessons in acting and stage technique for young people of high school age, will begin its first 10-week session on Saturday, September 26, at Lafayette Town Hall.

There are still openings in all classes, according to the directors of the school. Alice Swenning and Patricia Winkworth.

HOWEVER, SINCE the facilities are limited and a large enrollment is expected, registrants will be accepted on a first-come-first-served basis with the $10 fee for the first 10 lessons paid in advance.

For further information those interested may call Mrs. Winkworth at CL 4-5517.

An interesting feature of the school will be the lecture series which will present different members of the Dramateurs who, having been professionally trained or are experts in a particular phase of the theatre, will come in as guest speakers to explain and demonstrate their various specialties.

AMONG THE subjects to be covered are costume design, stage management, public speaking, the art of pantomime, approaching a part in a play, the art of melodrama, stock theatre and many more.

These will be presented periodically throughout the sessions to coincide with the regular curriculum.

Adult Center Will Begin Classes Monday

The Acalanes Adult Center, scheduled to begin classes Monday, has a variety of offerings for the community, designed to meet all age levels and interest groups.

In addition to the regular academic offerings in English, civics and mathematics, and the various languages, there are among other offerings courses in investments and real estate law in the business field; sex knowledge and hygiene and education for childbirth in family life education; and fine arts and homemaking courses designed for all level of abilities.

Richard Donovan, manager of Bank of America, Pleasant Hill branch, will instruct the standard division course on business administration starting Tuesday.

Public Relations for You and Your Bank will be instructed by Frank L. Crosby, manager of public relations, Permanente Cement Co., Kaiser Industries, Anitoch, in the graduate division beginning Thursday.

More and More People Every Month in County

Contra Costa County has been adding 736 people to its population rolls each month for the past nine years, according to the San Francisco Bay Area Council.

However, 584 of these each month were the excess of births over deaths, and only 152 were persons moving into the county.

The county's total increase January 1, last year, to January 1, this year, was 1088, which indicates the rate is increasing.

Also, the more recent figures have a much larger portion of people moving in. For that month, it was 547 newcomers, and 541 births over deaths.

Cub Leaders Will Train At Acalanes

A cub leaders' basic training course will be held at Acalanes High School September 19.

Al Meade of Walnut Creek, training chairman for the Boy Scouts Meridian district, said it will be held in the cafeteria from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Participants will bring a hot lunch. A hot drink will be provided.

The one-day basic course is in lieu of three separate nightly sessions and will include the fundamentals of boy scouting including the organization of a cub pack, the achievement or advancement plan of cubbing, and den and pack activities.

Two outstanding cub scouters of the district have been recruited to assist in the leadership for the course.

Harry Gester of Walnut Creek, cubmaster of Pack 214, will conduct the session on achievements.

Dr. H. L. Fastabend of Orinda, chairman of Pack 211, will be in charge of the den and pack activities session.

Additional persons are being recruited to serve in the sections.

Meade stressed that all cubmasters, assistants, committeemen, and den mothers were urged to attend the course.

The Lynn School enrolls children from three to eight years of age and offers two programs under the guidance of teacher Miss Winifred Johnston.

The morning session for the smallest children offers a program of exercise for muscle coordination, creative activity including painting, play, pasting and music, and training in dressing themselves through the use of self-teaching boards.

GROUP ACTIVITY and play is encouraged.

The afternoon program for older children is similar to the morning with increased emphasis on learning and readiness for the special classes in public school.

Students 12 years and over at The Lynn Training Center are supervised by Mrs. Carol Lewis in the learning of simple manual skills. Various paid work projects for outside organizations are handled by the students.

PAINTING, cooking, weaving, pottery and other crafts are taught, and they participate in athletic activities such as baseball, basketball and football.

Car pools have been formed from the Antioch, Pittsburg, Concord, Walnut Creek, and Lafayette areas. Mothers are expected to cooperate one day weekly and share in the driving if possible.

From Tipi to Youth Concert Stage--Laubins

Reginald and Gladys Laubin, talented dancers and artists, live in a tipi in Jackson Hole, Wyoming, when they are not on tour, to prove that an Indian tipi can be as snug a home as a person could wish for.

This fascinating couple will present their traditional Plains Indian dances and arts for the Central Contra Costa Youth Concerts on March 13.

The Laubins not only perform on the concert stage; they have made five sound films, performing Plains Indian dances and demonstrating Indian musical instruments and hand language.

THESE FILMS were made for the University's Educational Materials Service.

Both of the Laubins have a New England background, as they were reared there and studied in a New England art school.

Recently, they built a "square tipi" or log cabin as their permanent home.

Into the design and decoration of it, they have put a great deal of the imagination and skill which they have utilized in their preservation and presentation of traditional Plains Indian dances and arts on the concert stage, in films and in their writing.

GLADYS LAUBIN even dresses colorfully while off stage. Each article of decoration in their home has some Indian history or meaning. A great deal of research has gone into the furnishing of their home.

In addition to their other accomplishments, the Laubins climaxed years of research by writing and illustrating a book, "The Indian Tipi," published by the University of Oklahoma Press.

Even though the Laubins have their new log cabin, they do not sleep there. They snuggle down in buffalo robes in the big tipi, even in zero weather.

The Laubins are skilled in the old Indian custom of cooking in the ground, and turn out some very delicious meals.

THE CENTRAL Contra Costa Youth Concerts are the concerts designed for families to enjoy together. The time, place and price are all fitted to this.

The time is 2:30 p.m. on a Sunday afternoon, at Las Lomas High School auditorium, Walnut Creek. Price is $3.50 for adults and children. The programs are limited to one hour in length.

This year the ticket sales are going to be handled by mail order. The last week in September, a letter with a subscription blank will be sent to past subscribers, and the drive will then be open to everyone in October.

Persons wishing their names to be placed on the mailing list, may write to Central Contra Costa Youth Concerts, Post Office Box 83, Walnut Creek.

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra and Alec Templeton will be the other concerts. The Board of Directors is hoping for a fourth concert, which will be announced later.

Scout Leader Course Starts Wednesday

Tom Clarke, Danville businessman, will conduct the Mt. Diablo Council's annual Baden Powell Scout Leaders training course.

The beginning session will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., at the Acalanes High School, Lafayette.

A final session will be conducted at Camp Herms in El Cerrito, beginning September 25, at 7:30 p.m., and continuing through Sunday. Several men with broad leadership experience will assist Clarke.

Senior Patrol Leader will be Jack Turner of El Cerrito. His quartermaster will be Wayne Conger of Concord. Course instructors include L. C. Martin of Pittsburg, Jack Steller of Lafayette, and Clarence Smith, Berkeley.

The course is open to all Mt. Diablo Council Scouters.

Science Courses Completed by DV Teachers

Six Diablo Valley College science and mathematics instructors, recipients of competitive National Science Foundation fellowships, will have completed their summer study programs.

They are Don Brunner, John Ewing, Floyd Svensson, Richard Cooper, Henry Harris and Michael Pizanis.

Brunner, a chemistry instructor, has been studying the nature of atomic and molecular bonding at the University of Georgia, Atlanta.

Ewing, a mathematics instructor and former Navy captain, is attending the UCLA Extension Summer Institute for training in numerical analysis for college teachers of Mathematics, Engineering and Physical Sciences.

Courses he has undertaken include digital computation, programming and coding, relaxation methods of calculation and differential equations.

Svensson and Cooper, both engineering instructors at Diablo Valley, are studying "engineering measurements and materials" presented at Monterey Peninsula College by the University of California Extension Division for junior college instructors.

Harris, a mathematics and engineering instructor, also attended Monterey Peninsula College where he studied "engineering graphic sciences, materials and measurements."

Pizanis, chemistry instructor, who also serves as photographic department advisor at the college, received money to study and work at the University's Radiation Laboratory under a program sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission to give science teachers a working knowledge of nuclear science.

Among books recorded recently for America's estimated 350,000 blind persons as a Talking Book is the best-seller, "Dr. Zhivago." It was recorded at the American Foundation for the Blind in New York.

Prices Effective Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 9, 10, 11, 12 in Walnut Creek, Orinda and Concord Stores Only. Right Reserved to Limit.

New Acalanes Grid Coach Has Colorful Background

By ERWIN MATTSON

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of profiles of football coaches in the central county area.)

Bob Stevens, the youthful and trim-looking head football coach at Acalanes, has had a long and varied athletic background of his own.

Coach Stevens was always interested in taking part in sports starting with his grammar school days, which began in Santa Barbara.

IN HIGH SCHOOL, he was a three-sport man, catching on the baseball nine, tossing the shot and discus in track and playing as a top performer on the gridiron as a center and tackle.

Height of his prep career came when he wound up on the second all Southern California team as a center.

THAT BROUGHT HIM an athletic scholarship to Oregon State, which he entered in 1941.

At Oregon State, his grid experiences were many and varied as he played center and right guard before being shifted to end. Then he became an inside blocking back in Oregon's single wing, went to fullback and then to left half.

January 1 of 1946 is a red letter day in Bob's sports book as it was on that date that he played as a member of the Shrine team, and, to top it off, as a quarterback in the T formation putter at Oregon State.

HE ALSO STARRED as a shot-

Bob's graduation, delayed by war service, came in 1947. He married Barbara Matter, an Acalanes High graduate, as a coed at Oregon State in 1946.

Bob's first job was at Sunnyvale High in 1947 and he moved to Acalanes in 1948, where he coached the varsity football line from '48 through '52.

HE TOOK OVER as junior varsity coach in '53, '54 and '55, winning the championship in two out of three tries. He returned as varsity line mentor in '56, then withdrew from active coaching in 1957 and '58.

He also coached the track weight men during his football coaching years and turned out many top performers.

This year he returned as head varsity coach and his hustle and broad experience appear to be paying off as the squad apears to have caught his contagious enthusiastic spirit.

BOB RESIDES WITH his wife Barbara at 1306 Summit Road in Lafayette along with their four children — Caryl, 11½; Jimmy, 9½; Joanne, 5, and Tommy, 2.

From their home high on the hill above Acalanes they can look down on the athletic fields below, where Bob's interests are centered so much these days, to say nothing of son Jimmy, who is on hand for each workout and lends a helpful hand, whether it be chasing balls or handing out towels.

FOOTBALL REALLY is in the air as gridiron enthusiasts throughout the central county area are beginning tryouts for the various high school teams. Here, Don Nelsen, varsity quarterback at Acalanes, looks over the field of grid hopefuls with his head coast, Bob Stevens. Stevens is the subject of a pre-season feature story this week—the first in a series of profiles on the area's grid coaches. —Sun photo by Erwin Mattson.

Lafayette's Mike White Is Cal Frosh Coach at 23

By MARK SCHNEIDER

This is the story of Mike White, playground director at 13; student leader and five sport letterman at Acalanes High School; captain of the 1957 Golden Bears, and now, at 23, the new freshman football coach at his alma mater, the University of California.

Mike's boyish face lit up with enthusiasm at the chance to discuss his "big break" in landing this position in his first full-time coaching assignment.

"I CAN'T EXPRESS how fortunate I feel to be associated with Pete and his staff. It's a great break and challenge to me."

Although only 23, White can actually date back his first "coaching" job 10 years, to when he acquired the summer job of coordinating athletics at Vallecito School at the prize age of 13.

Mike earned the respect of the teachers and students at Acalanes High School as a result of his leadership in many student activities and for his fine scholastic record.

HE WAS A MEMBER of the California Scholastic Federation as well as a participant in the student council at Acalanes.

Considering these facts, it would appear that White would have been left short for time for sports. However, such was not the case.

During his high school career, White was named to the All-League team in football and basketball, besides lettering in swimming, baseball and track.

AT THE University of California Mike competed in four seasons of football, four seasons in track, three seasons in rugby and two seasons in junior varsity football.

He also used his years at U.C. to gain his practical experience in working with youths.

In his junior year, Mike was athletic director of the Lair of the Bear, the Pinecrest alumni camp sponsored by the university.

As a senior, his position as assistant camp director placed him second in command of the entire camp.

White originally moved to Lafayette with his parents.

When not engaged at the University of California, Mike still lives with his family at 4022 Upper Happy Valley Road.

Sport Captured Salmon 'MUST' Be Dye Marked After Monday Morning

The Department of Fish and Game reminded ocean salmon fishermen today that after Monday, when the commercial salmon season closes, all sport-caught ocean salmon must be dye-marked on both sides.

The regulation is intended to discourage commercial sale of sport-caught salmon.

Each salmon must be marked from head to tail on both sides with a half-inch wide stripe of bright red. It can be of any permanent USP certified food or drug coloring.

Ordinary food coloring sold in most grocery stores will probably work OK, the department said. Some manufacturers are producing a special dye packaged in dauber bottles. These are sold in bait shops in major ocean salmon fishing areas and some party boats provide them.

The dye-marking regulation does not apply to salmon caught in inland waters.

The marking regulation for ocean-caught salmon will be in effect until next April 15, when the commercial salmon season re-opens.

The Department also reminded ocean anglers that the ocean salmon season for sport fishermen closes November 15, south of Tomales Point, including all bays except Tomales Bay. There is no closed season north of Tomales Point, including Tomales Bay and all bays lying to the north.

Castro Drives Away With Third First at Speedway

By JEAN McGUIRE

For the third time this season, San Francisco's Julian Castro drove his way into the winners circle at Contra Costa Speedway in Pacheco.

Castro has a hot car and an even hotter racing style that will take him far up the point list before this season is over.

SECOND TO receive the checkered flag in the 25 lap main event was Chet Thompson of San Lorenzo, who won this event the previous week.

Winner of the rough and tumble semi-main event was Concord's Hugh Payne in the Gabby's Back Yard Special number 113.

Following Payne was Mel Baker of Sacramento, and Jack McLeod of Napa.

Walnut Creek's "Hopalong" Herb Williams came that close to winning this event, leading the pack in his Sunset Beauty Bar Special number 24, until the final lap when he was spun out by Mel Baker. Herb is really doing a beautiful job in this car after being absent most of the season.

FINAL HEAT winner was Joe Neault of Oakland, followed by Paul Stornetta, Petaluma, and Santa Rosa's number one boy Mel Baker. In the fast fourth heat Johnny Franklin copped the victory, with Ted Montague and PeeWee Waybright hard on his heels.

Julian Castro, Nelson Snow, San Pablo, and Larry Damitz, Vallejo, were first second and third respectively in the third heat.

SECOND heat winners were, Lew Lawson of Alameda, Paul Stornetta, and Mel Baker. First heat, Hank Alves, Oakland, Joe Neault, and Roland Lokmor of Concord. Johnny Franklin and Julian Castro were a very tight first and second in the trophy dash, and Pacheco's Cliff Bennett won the consolation race.

Following is a complete point listing as of September 5:

Johnny Franklin, Santa Rosa, 688. Gene Dudley, Napa, 666. Wally Baker, Sacramento, 650. Leroy Geving, Petaluma, 570. Ted Gratriex, Napa, 487. PeeWee Waybright, Oakland, 474. Julian Castro, San Francisco, 419.

Be sure to arrive at the speedway early tomorrow night for the big midget hardtop combination show. Qualifying will start early, 6:30.

Dr. Friedman Will Describe 'Strong Heart'

"For Whom Not Soon the Bell Will Toll," is the title of an after dinner speech to be presented at the seventh annual meeting of the Contra Costa County Heart Association on Monday at the Gold Nugget Restaurant, Concord.

Dr. Meyer Friedman, director of the Harold Brunn Institute for Cardiovascular Diseases at Mt. Zion Hospital, will speak.

"There is a type of individual whom we at least are very certain will not get heart disease," Dr. Friedman said.

He will describe this person to the Heart Association.

Election of officers will he held.

In charge of arrangements are Mesdames Robert Clough, chairman of volunteers; W. S. Marschner, Henley Worthington and John Holm.

Gridders Ready For New Season

Pigskinners Open Under Lights Next Friday Night

The local preps have been hard at it since practice sessions opened two weeks ago, and for the most part it has meant two-a-day drills for the high school youths.

But, with the opening of school and academic classes yesterday there will be one-a-day workouts from here on out.

EARLY WORKOUTS were primarily concerned with conditioning and fundamentals.

The picture is changing a bit now that the opening games are only a week away—Friday, September 18, to be exact.

Attention is turning to team play, with coaches fretting and worrying over the fact that they have so much ground to cover before the openers.

THE ONLY CONSOLATION is that everyone is pretty much in the same, uncomfortable fix.

Coaches tend to be optimistic, particularly at this stage of the game, with so much lying ahead of them.

Coach Bob Muenter of Piedmont has been having heavy practice sessions, both on the field and in the classrooms, where daily chalk talks have been the order of the day.

THE PIEDMONT HIGHLANDERS have been one of the elevens rated as the number one club in the Foothill Division of the D.V.A.L., with San Ramon elected to give them the stiffest competition.

The Highlanders have a good heavy forward wall, with a backfield which boasts an all-league fullback in Bob Jones, a junior who, at 172 pounds, has added heft to break him into the open.

He has ample speed, as shown last year, but he is not as fast as Pete Jacobs, a senior left halfback who was a top sprinter on last season's track team.

JACOBS BY NO MEANS has the position sewn up, however, as he has plenty of competition from John Pfeffer, a junior who tips the scales at 165.

Rounding out the backfield is right half Doug McVean, a veteran letterman of last season who runs well and hard at 178 pounds.

Piedmont operates from a modified T formation, meaning that the quarterback is the heart of the offense.

MUENTER IS WELL-EQUIPPED here, with Rod Church, a senior at 160 pounds, showing to advantage with good early season ball handling and passing.

But sophomore Steve Hogan, at 6'1" and 165 pounds, looks to be a real comer—so much so that he could wind up as the number one signal caller.

Left end finds Russ Leavitt, a 170-pound senior, while Mike Miller, another senior at the same weight, holds forth at the right flank.

KEN AMBROSE, a 211-pound senior, is the top choice at right tackle, with senior Hughes Crumpler, at 218 pounds, at the left tackle slot.

At left guard the Highlanders will have John McDonald, the team's lightest lineman at 160, but the coaching staff rates the game senior as one of the best.

George Conn, an all-league choice in 1958, is slated for right guard at 213 pounds. Conn still has time to grow as he is only a junior.

ANOTHER JUNIOR WEIGHING 210 pounds is Ken White, who at present is the number one center.

All in all, the Piedmont clan has ample experience and weight, along with more than its share of speed. Reserves could pose a problem for Muenter and his staff.

The scouts will be in evidence in abundance at Piedmont's opening fracas at Fremont High in Oakland at 3:15 p.m. Friday.

DUANE LOUIS, IN HIS first year as head man at Las Lomas, has his work cut out for him with lettermen few and far between on his 34-man squad.

The lineup, as would be expected with a limited number of veterans on the squad, is constantly shifting and changing.

The Knights have ample heft, particularly in the backfield, which could go a long way toward making up for the lack of experience.

Mike Queenan (160), a senior, draws the left guard spot, with right guard Steve White (155), also a senior, on the other side of John Reschert, a 220-pound senior pivot man.

QUARTERBACK HAS HAROLD Stephenson, a 160-pound junior up from last year's junior varsity, holding an edge over a transfer, Doug Martin, who is also a 160-pound junior.

Mike Hair, a 190-pound senior, was a top guard last year, has been a pleasant surprise in a tryout at the fullback spot this season. One of the fastest men on the squad, if not the fastest, he could provide a lot of offensive punch.

Tom Broatch, a 175-pound senior, is the number one left half to date, and the right halfback position finds a battle between two seniors, Jim Sisler (165) and Steve Bowen (180).

THE KNIGHTS GET their first chance at competitive play when they host Oakland High next Friday night in the 1959 opener.

Coach Bob Stevens is another first year varsity coach at Acalanes, and as such is considered by some to be the loop's dark horse.

Chances are the horse would have been a few shades lighter in color if ends Steve Lientz and Bruce Dodge hadn't been sidelined before the season started—Dodge with an accident injury and Lientz by an operation.

THEY COULD GET back late in the season, but how much help they will be with so much lost time is a big question mark.

Thorton Smith and Bob Lockey look to be good replacements and with continued improvement could be hard to displace once they get some varsity game experience under their belts.

Junior tackle Denny Toll is trim at 204 pounds and is back at the spot he held down last year on the right side of the line. His defensive play to date has been particularly impressive.

JEFF ANDERSON (180), a senior up from the junior varsity, holds down the left tackle position.

Lou Cosso (180), a senior, is back at right guard, while Chet Threlfall (160), another senior, has been converted to a left guard after playing as a back on the 1958 junior varsity.

A 175-pounder, Jeff Picard, who was a guard as a sophomore last season with the jayvees, has been moved into the center slot.

IN THE BACKFIELD, senior Don Nelson (160), a seasoned varsity quarterback, is number one in that all-important post, backed up by Tom Strain, a 175-pound junior who was the jayvees' quarterback last season.

Junior Stew Fox (170), a regular on the junior varsity, has moved to the varsity right halfback post, while junior Chris Rinne (155) at left half has shone in early scrimmages with his speed and broken field running.

Fullback Jim Holden, a 165-pound senior, is still adjusting from the guard position he held last year, but he has come along fast in recent workouts.

TWO OTHER BACKS who have drawn attention are junior Jeff Warner (150) and senior Bill Jencks. One or both could move into starting positions by the time the Dons host the Alhambra Bulldogs in the September 18 lid-opener.

Coach Bob Brooks at Miramonte has had his problems with manpower plus the fact that his backfield is definitely on the light side.

The line, in contrast, has ample size, but here again depth is the number one problem.

TWENTY-SIX AT present are listed on the varsity squad, but absences have been running between four and eight for one reason or another.

The tentative first string was released as follows:

Le, Corbett Kroll, senior, 175; lt, Buddy Boeger, senior, 190; lg, Jack Putnam, junior, 170; center, John Rinne, junior, 175; rg, Mason Fries, senior ,175; rt, Jim Botto, senior, 215; re, Paul Pfifer, junior, 175; qb, Randy Thaman, junior, 145; lh, Bill Brown, senior, 135; rh, Al Giessler, senior, 135; and fb, Charles Blue, senior, 155.

THE BIG PROBLEM looms in the reserve field, with Bruce Hancock, a 175-pound senior, the best of a small lot as he is a good all-around player, capable of filling in as an end, tackle or back with equal facility.

Fullback Don Davids (170) is probably lost, as his family on last reports was moving.

The Matadors taste their first outside competition when they play Clayton Valley at the Orinda Field at 3:30 p.m. next Friday.

COACH HAL BRIGGS of Pleasant Hill faces a toughie in his opener when he tackles San Ramon High a week from tonight under the newly-installed Ram lights.

Briggs figures to have his best eleven yet, and the Rams definitely rate as a top contender in the Contra Costa Division. Not only does he have an ample supply of lettermen, but he has a deep squad with good reserve strength.

As the coach stated, "We are tougher up front than last year, and we have a much better aerial game."

COMPETITION IS especially keen for starting spots, and some probably won't be decided right up until game time. The front runners, as of this week, are:

Le, Dan O'Brien, senior, 153; lt, Mike Ryan, senior, 208; lg, George Bruns, senior, 173, or Doug Euranius, senior, 138; c, Mike Erickson, senior, 181; rg, Jim Hinds, senior, 168; rt, Walt Dathe, senior, 183; re, Dick Dole, junior, 201; qb, Jim Maples, senior, 161; lh, Dave Shepard, senior, 181, or Tom Foster, sophomore, 176; rh, Tom Webb, senior, 141; and fb, Roger Faulk, senior, 191.

Others who are pressing hard for top spots are halfback Terry Hughes, a 152-pound junior; quarterback Archie Allison, a junior who weighs in at 154; Chuck Ray, sophomore tackle at 205; and a pair of twin brother tackles in juniors Larry and Terry Shuiten, who both tip the scales at 186.

COACH MARV ASHBY over Danville way has a hefty and capable squad of his own although he doesn't appear to have the Rams' depth. The game between the Wolves and the Rams could well be the season's best opener.

Rivalry is keen here and it is an inter-division rivalry that gives promise of plenty of sparks flying!

The Wolves have come along slowly but steadily and pretty much as expected. All tentative starters are lettermen, including one transfer in center Milt Blake, a regular at Miramonte in the '58 season.

THE TENTATIVE STARTING lineup as of this week is:

Le, Bryan Hansen, senior, 185; lt, Bob Roberts, senior, 195; lg, Mike Furlong, senior, 180, or Chuck Riddell, senior, 215; c, Blake, senior, 190; rg, Mel Deardorff, senior, 185; rt, John Schwammell, senior, 212; re, Dave Graves, senior, 160; qb, Casey Evans, junior, 160; lh, Bill Humphrey, senior, 180; rh, Bruce Weiss, senior, 160; and fb, Dick Von Wald, senior, 175.

It is interesting to note that every tentative starter but one, quarterback Evans, is a senior.

The squad at present is down to 32 men, and includes some good reserves. Coach Ashby took special note of a couple of good players up from last year's junior varsity in Glenn Miller, junior tackle at 205; Phil Hamblin, a 160-pound senior halfback; and Bob Long, another senior halfback, who, at 170 pounds is exceptionally fast.

Diablo Invitational Draws Host of Top Notch Golfers

BY
NEIL N. RUSSELL
P.G.A. Instructor

My wife and I are on a short but well needed vacation. I hope to be back for work September 21st.

By that time the children will be back at school, and there will be time to consider catching up with your golf lessons.

Remember golfers and friends, if your ambitions are to be satisfied, there can be only one answer, sound fundamental training.

I must be frank, your lessons must be properly taught you, you must understand that to attain the goal you seek, you must be carefully, strictly instructed.

TO BREAK down in your learning stages, is a negative approach.

It is my fervent hope that all who seek guidance will have the fortitude to carry out their teacher's instructions.

The Diablo Country Club has just completed its yearly invitational event. They always have a wonderful time in their own way, the prizes are good, and the fun is terrific. These results are a fine cross section of what goes on at such get-togethers.

JIMMY FROST and Dale McBane seem to have a priority on the Diablo Invitational tournament.

Coming with a rush toward the end, Frost and McBane captured their second straight crown with bestball 58 for a 36 hole total of 121.

Meanwhile, first day leaders, Rig Ballard and Bub McVey slipped to a tie for third place with a 65 for 126, four strokes behind the second place team of Moody Jorgenson and big Ed Nott.

Frost, a forklift salesman and a three handicaper at the Diablo Club, fashioned seven birdies on his round of 64, which failed by one stroke of equaling the course record.

Two players recorded eagles during the tournament. Al Ross used a wedge on the 18th hole for his shot, while Bill Hale eagled the par four 14th with an eight iron shot from about 50 yards out. Results:

121—Jim Frost - Dale McBane (63-58).

122 — Moody Jorgenson Ed Nott (62-60).

126—Jim Roessier - F. Alexanderson (63-63); Rig Ballard-Bud McVey (61-65).

127—Lou Del Gado - R. Waters (64-63); E. Keene - Dr. Joe Sweet (62-65); Bill Warren - Keith Johnson (63-64); Art Anderson-R. Hopkins (62-65); J. Sponberg - R. Johnson (65-62); Alex Swanson-L. Della Valle (63-64).

128—Ed Parks - R. Kent (65-63); Don Tice - Ray Haywood (65-63); W. Woodman - A. Thom (65-63); D. Brody - D. Reale (66-62).

129—A. Knudsen - J. Ross (61-68).

Diablo Vikings Open '59 Season Against Oakland

The Vikings of Diablo Valley College open the grid season a day ahead of the preps when they face the Oakland Junior College eleven under the lights of Las Lomas High next Thursday night.

The Vikings, with new coaches, are starting pretty much from scratch as the lettermen are scarce and the ranks thin.

THE TURNOUT VARIES from day to day, and it is definitely a year of building for Head Coach Sam DeVito and assistant Jack Carhart.

Diablo Valley runs from a version of the T formation and stresses a passing game to go with a running attack.

The squad received a pleasant boost in personnel last week when Webb Johnson reported for duty. Johnson was a standout and an all-league player while at Las Lomas.

He entered Oregon State, where he was a star frosh player, but recently decided to return to California and cast his lot with the Vikings. In the DVC workouts, Johnson again has excelled.

In playing Oakland Junior College, the Vikings have their work cut out for them as they come up with a beter than average squad which should give local fans a first-hand view of what lies ahead for the Diablo College eleven, which has a heavy schedule on tap.

Other former Las Lomas players on hand are Clark Harris, Jim Hemstalk and Bill Lloyd.

JAMES PAINTER is Pacifica's lone candidate, while Al Isola, rated as an accurate passing quarterback, comes by way of St. Mary's High. Another St. Mary's player is Gerald Sheehan.

Clyde Laird, Jerry Wolter, Ed Miller, Bill Kelleher and Rick Brosky are Alhambra High grads.

Pleasant Hill alums include Doug Jones, Dud Buffa, Bill Chappell, Brent Marshall and Butch Crowder.

PLAYERS VIA Diablo High are Bob Shaver, Jim Gonsalves, Mike Crane, Roger Kroboth and William Shinn.

Former Acalanes players at the Viking camp are Jeff Rankin, John Dietrich and Jerry Coakley. From San Ramon there are Ken Sandy and Pat Furlong.

Liberty of Brentwood is represented by Sid Tarango while John Swett of Crockett has two candidates in Bob Hughes and Dale Buscaglia.

Other representatives are Bill Lampley of Nashville, Tennessee, Gary Niva of Minnesota, Darrell McComber of Minnesota, Danny Alfaro of Pittsburg, Bud Lamprig of Los Angeles, Nick Gonzales of Pittsburg, James Hill of Pittsburg and John Rogers of Antioch.

BEHIND YOUR GLASS OF WATER...

It takes a lot of time and effort to bring you a glass of pure water. Really pure, that is. But your water system (you know..."East Bay MUD") considers it imperative. Agreed?

Actually, the mountain water that comes out of your faucet is a pretty fine product right at the source. Mostly this is Mother Nature's doing. "East Bay MUD" lends a hand, though, through constant patrol of reservoir watersheds.

The next step is to maintain — or improve on — this built-in purity. The method: scientific processing. Which is just a fancy name for such things as filtration and examination.

By filtration we mean that every drop of water is "washed" by passing it through special high-velocity filters. (Incidentally, yours is the only 100% filtered metropolitan water supply west of the Mississippi.)

As for examination . . . well, that means thousands of quality checks in the laboratory. The end result: water that far exceeds the standards set by the U. S. Department of Public Health. How's that for purity?

Booklets on water, yours for the asking.

Paired for fall fashion are plaid, permanently box-pleated skirt and white herringbone pullover with leather belt. At Goldmans, Broadway Shopping Center.

The fashion news of fall arrives, and with it, a feeling of greater elegance that's reflected in the classic good taste, well-planned flattery and excellent design of new clothes for the family... new furnishings for the home... see Autumn news in fashions for your family and home... previewed here... ready for fall 1959

Suits Back in Style Again as Fall Fashions Make September Debut

KATIE HILL, Capwell's High School Board member from Pleasant Hill, models a red wool sheath dress with boat neck, grey suede, high-heeled closed-toe shoes and a hat which features the haberdasher look in red felt postillion with veil. Her handbag is a matching grey suede. Jewelry is offset by smoke broque pearls and smoke rhinestones combined in pin and earring.

Continental Styling for Shirts, Ties

Shirts and ties styled in the flavor of the new and rapidly accepted Continental suits are really brightening up the Fall fashion scene.

The elegance of these new shirts and ties, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, is complemented by the classic interpretations of the Ivy models.

WIDESPREAD collars, round spread collars, rounded tab collars and newly designed collars derived from European custom styles are only some of the Continental treatments.

But, the fashion news doesn't stop here.

Novelty cuff treatments, paneled fronts, fancy shirt front ideas and a logical return to patterned and colored fabrics round out the Continental shirt picture.

MARGARET JOSEPH'S Velonne Flynn shows a green suit dress for fall with small imported fur collar, one piece with dressmaker sleeves and new short waist length jacket. A Gay Gibson Fashion. Brown, reversed pig handbag.

Summer Tans Bowing to Fashion's New Browns

Well-dressed women are replacing their summer tans with fashion's beautiful browns — from the toes up.

Brown, in a full range of tones, leathers and styles, is the season's most important shoe fashion news, according to Miss Billie Gould, fashion director of Leather Industries of America.

AS THE ACCENT for autumn dress and suit colors or as the base of an all-brown ensemble, new hues in shoes flatter the feminine foot.

In smooth, grained and brushed leathers—and leather combinations — brown shades range from golden through reddened and blackened browns.

In smooth leathers, antiqued blackened brown appears as a dimension in depth, rather than a surface color.

With the browns in the season's color parade are a host of subtle, smoky colors.

BRIGHT without brilliance, these shoe leathers include darkened hunter and olive greens, dark and graphited grays, softly grayed blues like blueberry, and winy, almost mulberry reds.

Regal purple is ready to grace afternoon and evening wear in shades from lilac and lavender to lush amethyst.

PICTURED IS Sandi Sherman of Sandra Joy Casuals wearing the latest fashion for high school, college or business, a Century stitched down pleated skirt and monogramed Darlen collar cardigan sweater.

New Shoes, Perfect Team For Fall Season

Sturdy and sleek, low or high, men's shoes for fall 1959 are a happy combination of good looks with comfort.

This fashionable footwear, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, has been teamed with the new socks that come in trim, modestly patterned styles for business and dress-up wear, as well as boldly designed and snugly warm types for sports and casual wear.

FALL SHOES can be divided into two distinctive groups. Although in many instances, there is some overlapping, there are the traditional British-types that are the favorties of the ivy fans and the Italian-inspired continentals.

In the first group we find the classic plain toe bluchers, the wing-tip brougues and the sturdy moccasin pattern oxfords.

Bulky Sweaters Important Items In Fall Season

Set a brisk autumn scene and you have to add sweaters for comfort, for color and for practicality.

Outdoorsmen, motorists and suburbanites wouldn't have it any other way.

BULKY, YET lightweight textures are among the top favorites for the frosty season, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Buy them big and roomy, say the fashion experts.

Wear them over sport shirts . . . wear them under sport shirts . . . use sweater vests and cardigans under sports jackets . . . wear the new blazer-like knitted cardigans for sports jackets . . . toss a couple in your week-end bag or shove one into the glove compartment of your car.

BEST FOOTWEAR FORWARD—Men will put their best feet forward this Fall in all-leather shoes and handsome socks in these reigning styles, from Grande. At top is a three-eyelet dress blucher in the new American Continental style, combining European flair with a more rugged American look. Toe is modified squared-off and flat moc stitching is styled up with dressy perforations. At center is the perennial plain-toed, five-eyelet cordovan.

Browns Are Top Fall Colors

THIS NEW fur blend wool day dress is a fall presentation of Joseph Magnin. Junior sizes are available. The black calf satchel bag, black kid gloves and the fur fabric hat are from JM's fall collection of leathers.

SHARRON SMITH in a cocoa brown border print Ruth Original dress by Ruth of Carolina. The orlon sweater is dyed to match and is a part of the costume. Meris Emory is also wearing a Ruth Original costume, Lovat brown wool, off white Wamsutta three-quarter sleeve blouse and matching vest. Mary Jo LeClaire is wearing a Royal "O" red and black plaid sheath jumper, with wide black patent leather belt. The long sleeve white blouse is of dacron and cotton. Nancy Bailes in grey tweed school dress, unpressed pleated skirt with puritan white collar, three-quarter sleeve faced in white. All from Klad-ezee in Broadway, Walnut Creek.

CONTINENTAL DETAILING characterizes many new Fall outercoats, available at Smiths, Broadway Shopping Center, with the leather jacket on the left and the double-breasted fleece-lined cotton shell coat on the right being just two stylish samples. And the patterned sweater and three-way zip-front fisherman knit are also among the top style items for Fall-Winter 1959.

A NEW SHAPE in town—this new De Liso Deb pump presented at Kushins. The pump-line is curvaciously dipped for maximum flattery. Slim and graceful, it is featured in black suede, black calf, whiskey calf and winter bone calf—a style from Kushins' fall collection of De Liso Debs.

Student Wardrobe Depends On Multitude of Things

The ideal student wardrobe depends on many things, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. First, of course, is the age of the youngster. Is he a grammar school boy, a junior or senior high schooler, or has he reached the scholastic heights of the college men?

The section of the country in which he lives as attends school is also an important factor in determining the choice of his back-to-school clothes.

However, the most important consideration in the selection of the student's wardrobe—no matter what his age or locale—is the need to conform with the dress habits of his classmates.

Fortunately for all concerned—the student, his teachers and his parents—the standard of dress of the average American student has improved greatly during the past several years. The sloppy look of a few years ago has been replaced by a cleaner, neater and more odrerly appearance.

A sure indication of this trend is the new interest displayed by boys and young men in the suit for dress-up occasions.

Another interesting development in the dress habits of schoolboys of all ages is their reawakened interest in hats—not necessarily standard hats of the kind that Dad wears, but rather novelty hats, fad hats and gag hats.

These may range from a small shaped Ivy cap to a Union or Confederate (depending on the area) kepi or campaign hat or even brightly colored wool felt derbies or Tyrolean-type felts.

BRASS LANTERN House of Fashion shows Phyllis Gibson fashionably styled in a sheer wool dress by Miss Elliette of California in fall's ever popular black. Graceful V-Scoop neckline with dramatic bow. Trim little black feather hat, pearls by Hobe.

Glowing Colors In Men's Wear

Men who dress right will be stepping out this fall in sports jackets, blazers and slacks that will give the colorful autumn countryside some real competition.

It almost seems that nature had a hand in developing some of the new colors, such as the glowing golds, greens and browns, and the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear notes that the fall harvest of boldly patterned plaids, checks and novelty effects — which is in evidence in slacks as well as jackets—uses these new hues handsomely.

Orinda Families Hosting Two Exchange Students

Two families in Orinda, the Frank Lee Browns and the Kirk Miles, are busy getting acquainted with the two American Field Service exchange students who arrived recently to make their homes here for the coming school year.

They are Sri Widiate Saebani from Jogjakarta, Java who is staying at the Brown's home and Enrique Lopez-Bruno from Madrid, Spain who is making his home with the Miles.

WIDI, AS SHE is called, has eight brothers and sisters at home in Java. Her family is engaged in the manufacturing of batik, which involves dying fabric in a process famous throughout the world.

Widi herself is interested in music, plays the piano and sings.

She is also interested in the national dance of Java and has taken dancing since she was six years old.

SHE HAS WORKED in the school library and on the school paper and is a collector of stamps and post cards.

Widi came in early August and has already taken a vacation trip with her Orinda family.

Her "sisters" in the Brown family are: Hilary, a senior at Miramonte; Meredith, a freshman; and Jennifer and Stephanie who are both in elementary school.

ENRIQUE ARRIVED at the Miles' home in late August. His "brothers" in Orinda are Tom, a senior in high school; and Dick, a junior.

Enrique is an only child at home in Madrid.

His family operates two schools there, one for boys and one for girls; and his father is also a teacher of history and geography.

LIKE WIDI, Enrique is interested in music and plays the piano.

In the field of sports he likes soccer and has played the game. His educational background besides education in Spain includes some time in England, including six months spent at the University at Cambridge.

Orinda's own "ambassadors of goodwill" are Dave Dail and Bob Newman. Bob left for Italy recently where he will spend the fall and early winter months. Dave is due home on September 7 from Germany where he has spent the summer. Both boys went under the A.F.S. exchange student program.

Garden Club Meeting Set

The Hilltop Garden Club of Orinda will hold its first meeting for the 1959-60 season Wednesday at 10 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Harold Hawes, 27 La Campana.

This will be a business meeting at which the 1959-60 program schedule will be discussed.

The following new officers will be introduced: Mrs. Harold Hawes, president; Mrs. Charles Ward, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Davidson, recording secretary; Mrs. J. P. Woods, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Francis See, treasurer. New Committee Chairmen are Mrs. Ward, program; Mrs. Andre Roegiers, social; Mrs. Ashton Smith, membership; Mrs. Alfred Reck, conservation; Mrs. Bert Cole, publicity.

Unruh, Campbell Lecture Realtors

Two Orinda men are among the 11 lecturers who will conduct classes in "Commercial and Investment Properties," beginning at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of the Oakland Real Estate Board, according to Les Stanfield, board president.

Duncan B. Campbell, 15 Tara Road, course coordinator and head of the real estate extension of the University of California, will instruct the class of October 21 on "Apartment Houses."

E. JULIAN UNRUH, 50 Via Hermosa, who is vice president of the American Trust Company and a member of the executive group, citizens committee on urban renewal and affiliate member of the Oakland Real Estate Board, lectures on "Financing" November 18.

The classes are open to all persons holding a real estate salesman's or broker's license, those in related fields and past students of real estate.

Orindan Named Branch Manager

Kenneth Cristy, 35 Lost Valley Drive, has been named manager of the new Oakland branch office of Ets-Hokin and Galvin, one of the nation's 10 largest electrical contracting firms.

Ets-Hokin made the announcement of Cristy's appointment simultaneously with the designation of the Oakland office to the full status of a branch.

CRISTY JOINED Ets-Hokin in 1950 and has been a superintendent with the firm the last five years.

The Oakland branch will maintain the present manufacturing facilities in that city, specializing in the manufacture of EHG designed air raid sirens and wireways.

Clark Smith at Fraternity Meet

Clark G. Smith attended the four-day 95th anniversary convention of Theta Xi, a national college fraternity, in Estes Park, Colorado, last week.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hotchkiss, 14 Linda Vista.

A member of the junior class at San Jose State College, Smith represented his chapter at the convention.

Cynthia Neuhaus to Attend Wellesley

Cynthia Neuhaus will be among the freshmen at Wellesley College, who will arrive on the Wellesley, Massachusetts, campus in time for the beginning of Freshman Week activities on September 21.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neuhaus, 627 Miner Road, and a graduate of the Anna Head School in Berkeley.

The 479 members of the Class of 1963 will come to Wellesley from 39 states and from 15 other countries on five continents.

BLIND STUDENT WINS SCHOLASTIC HONORS

Brown Award Medal. Given annually by the American blind student with the most outstanding record in a college Foundation for the Blind to a course.
